Hunt Bandits For Fostoria Bank Hold-up

Five Persons Are Wounded By Bandits As They Start Shooting

POLICE CHIEF IS BADLY WOUNDED

Police Scout Idea That Dillinger Was One Of Hold-up Pair

(International News Service)

FOSTORIA, O., May 4.—While police chief Culp lay in a hospital here waging a valiant battle against death, search was spread throughout Ohio today for two nervous-fingered, quick-trigger gunmen who shot the officer and wounded four other persons during a holdup of the First National bank.

Search for the gunmen was concentrated in the northern section of the state after the bandit pair, who obtained $17,299 in the holdup, had been reported seen speeding northward through Wood county toward Toledo.

While one of the victims of the bank holdup, Ralph Barbour, insisted today that the leader of the bandit pair was John Dillinger, America's public enemy No. 1, local officers were inclined to doubt the possibility although they would make no definite comment.

Barbour said the bandit leader had light red hair and a moustache.

Thinks It Was Dillinger

"He was standing right beside me," Barbour said. "I'm positive he was Dillinger. He looked just like the picture they put out of Dillinger up at Crown Point when Dillinger was standing with his arm on the shoulder of the prosecutor."

Reports were current this morning that federal agents were enroute here to investigate the possibility that the bank holdup may have been a Dillinger sortie. They could not be confirmed immediately, however.

Police Chief Culp, meantime, was reported to be showing some signs

Fire Threatens Factory At Noon

Firemen Save Main Factory Building When Storage Building Burns

DAMAGE AMOUNTS TO AROUND $5,000

Fire of undetermined origin which started in a storage building alongside the main factory building of the National Pants Company on Butler avenue extension, at 12:15 this afternoon, caused a loss of approximately $5,000 to the building and contents, covered by insurance.

Two fire companies were called to the scene and laid a line of hose from the corner of Adams street and Butler avenue, a distance of close to 2,500 feet. It required all the hose on the two trucks to reach the scene of the fire.

Save Main Factory

When Fire Chief Stockman and the two fire companies arrived on the scene, the building, a frame structure was a mass of flames and it was impossible to prevent its destruction. Firemen turned their attention to saving the main building, which they were able to do. Had the main structure not been of fireproof construction, a more serious blaze would have resulted.

Part of the building was used for storage purposes by the National Pants Company, and approximately $2,000 worth of machinery parts and equipment belonging to them was destroyed in the blaze Manager Max Shaffer, stated. The remainder of the structure was used by Fisher Brothers Inc. owners of the main building, which formerly housed the Buckeye Manufacturing Company. Materials which were stored in the building were not of great value, officials of Fisher Brothers stated.

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 4.—Acquitted of the murder of State Highway Patrolman Herbert Brantlinger, Thomas A. Davis, Jr., 19-year-old high school student, entertained little thoughts of freedom today while his father confronted the virtually hopeless task of obtaining $30,000 bail.

Immediately after he was found not guilty of fatally shooting Brantlinger as a gasoline station near Bridgeville, Davis was returned to his cell to await court action on charges of stealing an automobile and robbing a house. Illinois authorities also have requested his extradition on charges of shooting with intent to kill and robbery.

Should bail be obtained, the elder Davis said the youth would resume his studies at South Hills High school.

The dead were: Louis Rodrigney, 30, of Sugar Notch, who has a wife and children in Spain, and Alfonso Vito, 21, of Sugar Notch.

Faber Will Be Grilled Today In Murder Case

Prosecution And Defense Alike Will Pick Young Man To Pieces; Fights For Life

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

DEDHAM, Mass., May 4.—Abe Faber, brilliant student of technology, will again be taken apart to see what makes him tick.

More psychiatrists, neighbors, classmates and his father, Philip Faber, tailor, will follow each other to the witness stand at his murder trial in an attempt by the defense to convince the court he is insane.

He and his school chums, Murton and Irving Millen, are on trial for the slaying of two policemen during the robbery of the Needham Trust company.

Mental Slave.

Faber is pictured as having been absorbed by the personality of Murton, of being his mental slave, of feeding his inferiority complex on the dominating characteristics of his friend.

Faber is a moral imbecile, declared Dr. Evelyn Mitchell, woman alienist for the defense. A mixture of grandiose dreams and disbelief in himself, Abe, through his worship of Murton's strength and fearlessness, identified himself with Murton.

Murt's personality completed his. Abe became half himself and half Abe, and the whole followed the will and whim of Murt implicitly—so testified the woman alienist, bringing forth charts registered by a "truth machine" used in her tests on Abe in jail.

Later today the 22-year-old defendant, identified as carrying a shotgun during the bank raid, is scheduled to mount the witness stand and exhibit himself.

Japan's Policy In Far East Is Restated Today

Japan Will Resist Attempt By Powers To Weaken Position Of Manchukuo

HIROTA MAKES NEW STATEMENT

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, May 4.—Japan's claim to dominance in the far east was firmly restated today by Foreign Minister Koki Hirota, who a few days ago assured both the American and British governments that Japan intended to maintain the open door in China.

Addressing the annual conference of governors representing forty-eight Japanese prefectures, Hirota declared that Japan would "not remain silent" if any attempts were "made by a third party to disturb conditions in the far east."

The foreign minister referred directly to the status of the Manchukuoan government, set up under Japanese auspices in Manchuria, and which the principal powers, including the United States, have consistently refused to recognize.

Would Be Resisted

Any policy, he said, adopted by other nations which tended to weaken the position of Manchukuo would be resisted by Japan.

The Japanese government, "standing on its rights," he continued, would not permit other powers to infringe upon Manchukuoan interests.

Without referring to the world-

Post Positions Are Drawn For Starting Of Louisville Classic

(BULLETIN)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 4.—Nineteen of the turf's fleetest three-year-olds were nominated today to run for $30,000 added and undying glory in the sixtieth Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs tomorrow.

All the favorites and three regarded as "dark horses" were named in the entry box.

The highly favored Cavalcade, coupled with Time Clock as the Brookmeade Stable entry, enjoyed good fortune in the drawing for post positions. Cavalcade was placed in berth No. 12—right in midfield—and his stablemate drew the inside rail.

Riskulus, the highly touted Westerner and a notoriously fast breaker, drew the far outside position—No. 19.

Col. E. R. Bradley named a pair again, Blue Again and Bazaar, which drew No. 16 and 17 positions respectively. Mata Hari placed No. 4 and Sir Thomas No. 5.

Roosevelt Calls For Cooperation

President Sends Letter To U. S. Chamber Of Commerce Session In Washington

Says That Country Is Rapidly Recovering Business Stride; Asks For Support

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Subsurface friction between President Roosevelt and some industrial leaders of the nation was thrown into sharp relief at the concluding session of the U. S. Chamber of Commence annual meeting here.

The President, in a letter addressed to the chamber assured that the country was rapidly recovering, and bluntly asked business to step in and do its part.

Further—the President sharply admonished those who have held out "false fears." He called for wholehearted cooperation.

Strawn Speaks

And at the same session Silas H. Strawn, Chicago attorney and a former president of the chamber, spoke in the name of business and asked for an end to "tinkering." Strawn openly said that there was prevalent a feeling of nervousness

WILL ROGERS Says:

(Special To The News)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—Headline in papers today says, "Silas Says We Are Drifting." I had to do a little research work to find out who Silas was, and see if he had any idea where we were drifting.

I found out he (Silas Strawn) is an attorney from Chicago and was delivering a speech in Washington before the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. Silas had the whole thing in brief case form, excepting the destination.

It was like some big federal officer arising at a banquet and saying: "Dillinger is drifting," and you couldn't very well dispute him, unless you happen to ask him, "Where?"

Drought Becomes Serious To Middle West Crops

(International News Service)

CHICAGO May 4—Official weather forecasters held out only a slight hope today for rainfall sufficient to relieve the long continued drought that has overspread the agricultural middle-west, proving a serious menace to all crops.

Abnormally high temperatures were adding to the crop hazard over a wide area of the parched central states. A maximum of 83 degrees made yesterday the warmest day of the year here.

C. A. Donnell, official forecaster, said a storm area was moving into the upper central states from the west, but he predicted only a light to moderate rain late today or early tomorrow.

Another Immense Crowd At Public School Pageant

While there were no people turned away Thursday night in the Cathedral, the spacious auditorium was barely large enough to accommodate the crowd. An estimated crowd of 3500 attended the second presentation of the educational pageant put on by the pupils of the public schools bringing the total attendance for the two performances beyond 7000, a new record here.

The first presentation a week ago was paid for by the local chapter of the P. S. E. A. In order to accommodate the people who could not get in to see it, this second performance was scheduled and the crowds present asked to put in small contributions to meet the overhead expense. This they did in the usual New Castle manner. The cost of the production was met and there will be a balance of some $30 or $35. This is to go to the senior high school band to be used for whatever purpose the director, Joe F. Replogle, sees fit.

Some minor changes were made in the pageant Thursday night, most of them designed to save minutes. Starting at 7:45 the production lasted until about 10:30 and seemed smoother than the first night. This was undoubtedly due to the fact that the first presentation accustomed the youngsters to the crowd and also polished them in their lines.

Many educators from out of the city were present Thursday night. Among them was a group from Pittsburgh and another group from Slippery Rock State Teachers college.

The pageant commemorated the 100th anniversary of the saving of the free public schools of Pennsylvania and will stand as one of the outstanding pieces of work by the local school system for some time.

Barker Named Assistant To John C. Syling

Takes Up Duties As Assistant County Superintendent Of Schools July 1

NOW PRINCIPAL AT MT. JACKSON

Announcement was made today by County Superintendent of Schools John C. Syling, of the appointment of George M. Barker, supervising principal of the North Beaver township schools, as assistant county superintendent, effective July 1.

Lawrence county has been without an assistant superintendent during the past year, following the resignation of Clare B. Book, special permission having been secured from the state to do away with the office temporarily as a measure of economy.

It has been found necessary, however, to appoint an assistant this year, according to the state requirements, and Mr. Barker was named to fill the vacancy.

The new assistant county superintendent has had a wide experience as an educator, starting to teach in the country schools of Mercer county, in 1894, forty years ago.

He graduated from Grove City college in 1904 and secured his master's degree from the same school in 1907. In addition, he has taken post graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh.

In addition to teaching in the schools of Lawrence county for fourteen years, during which time he was at East Brook and New Castle high schools, and supervising principal of the Mahoning township schools, he has also taught in Mercer, Allegheny and Warren county schools, and taught for a year at Marion, Ind.

Biddle Makes Suggestion Of New Relief Plan For Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 4.—The state emergency relief board today held under advisement the suggestion of Eric H. Biddle, its executive director, that after August 1 cash relief should replace the present direct relief setup.

Members of the State Emergency Relief board will discuss the suggestion at the next meeting scheduled for May 29 after they have received an answer from federal officials to their request for a lump sum allocation to carry relief until next February when the 1935 legislature will be in session.

Biddle said his program could be financed easily within the $150,000,000 which it is estimated relief will cost until February.

Must Have Policy.

"Without continuity of policy, there can be nothing but insecurity to the unemployed," Biddle said in urging adoption of a permanent policy of relief distribution. "This cash relief program is inherently correct because there is no real substitute for personal management of finances, no matter how curtailed."

High points of Biddle's program were:

Cash relief to replace food orders, fuel, clothing and shoes.

Continuance of the present medical relief program.

Inauguration of a program of shelter relief advocated by the Pittsburgh real estate board through direct payment of taxes, water rents and insurance on homes occupied by unemployed.

Resumption of an adequate works program for jobless on cash relief after all unfinished CWA and RWD projects have been completed.

Would Eliminate Elaborate System.

Biddle said his program would eliminate the present elaborate administrative system of checking and distributing food and clothing or-

Oil Wells And Timber Burn In Butler County

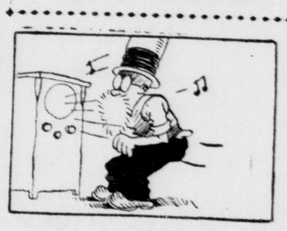

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., May 4.—Nine oil wells, a vacant home and $150,000 in timber were gutted in Clearfield and Winfield townships near here today by a six-hour forest fire.

More than 500 men fought the blaze before it was brought under control. Five wells of the Phillips Gas Company, and two wells each of Rapp & Co. and Lang & Co. were destroyed. The flames ate through a strip three miles wide and four miles long.

It was the largest fire in Butler county in many years.

Comes now the days when atmospheric changes are erratic and it reacts on radio in lots of crashing static. You tune your set to hear a song, about that lass Machree, and what comes through sounds like the wailing of a lost banshee. The lad who croons is nearly drowned with crashes short and snappy, ah me these nights of radio make one feel most unhappy. And it is true the static brings a flock of wails and groans, but there is this the static drowns the wail of saxophones. And that is something you'll admit, when storms are far away, they drown the crooning saxes out, it's eighty-four today.

EXTEND TRUCE IN GIRL KIDNAPING CASE

Contact Plans Fail To Mature

Girl Taken At Tucson, Arizona, Ten Days Ago Still In Kidnapers' Hands

NEGOTIATIONS ARE STILL IN PROGRESS

(International News Service)

TUCSON, Ariz., May 4.—Another attempted contact with the kidnapers of June Robles, six-year-old heiress, failed, but negotiations are still under way, International News Service learned today upon excellent authority.

A truce entered into last Friday by all law enforcement agencies to allow the Robles family until last midnight to negotiate with the abductors was extended indefinitely.

June was kidnaped ten days ago while she was en route home from school and is held for $10,000 ransom.

New Contact Effort.

An unnamed contact man previously unmentioned in the case was scheduled to meet a representative of the abductors yesterday in Sonora, Mexico, near Nogales, and 20 miles south of the international boundary line.

Plans for the meeting were made early yesterday but a misunderstanding later arose here as to whether yesterday was the day designated by the abductors, so a new attempt to contact the kidnapers was scheduled to be made today.

The disappointed intermediary carried no money and it was reported the sole purpose of his trip was to establish the fact that the family was dealing with the actual kidnapers.

HUNT BANDITS FOR FOSTORIA BANK HOLD-UP

of improvement at the hospital here. Physicians said he had "a fighting chance to recover."

Force Victims to Shield Them

The bandits made their escape by forcing their holdup victims to form a double line from the bank door to their automobile, thus shielding them from the crowd of citizens, some of who were armed, who had gathered in front of the bank.

Then, to protect them from bullet fire as they sped out of the city, the bandits forced two of the bank employes, Miss Ruth Harris, 22, bookkeeper, and William Daub, 40, assistant cashier, to ride on the running board of the machine to the outskirts of the town where they were released. Miss Harris fainted.

The shooting affray started when Chief Culp walked in on the bandits as they were in the process of staging the holdup.

Gunmen Open Fire

Sighting the officer's uniform, the gunmen apparently went "shoot crazy" and opened fire. Culp fell with a bullet in his lungs.

Meantime, citizens began gathering outside the bank and while one of the bandits proceeded to hurriedly gather up the loot, the other peppered machine gun bullets through a window to stave off capture.

our persons fell target to the barrage of ruthless gunfire. One of them, William Feasel, was critically wounded. The others, whose wounds were not regarded as serious, were R. S. Powley, cashier of the bank; Ed Walters, former policeman who was shot in the leg, and William Shields, a carpenter.

Mr. Roosevelt's letter was read by President Henry I. Harriman of the chamber. He said he confidently counted on their loyality and continued support. Then he added significantly:

"Your membership largely represents those interests which from motives of self-interest as well as good citizenship have a leading role to play. The people as a whole will be impatient of those who complain and of those who hold out false fears. At the same time he announced bids would be opened on May 25 for 13 additional routes.

Court House Sketch On Display At Store

Passersby View Approved 'Academic Rendering' At New Castle Store

Through a clear-cut, enlarged sketch which architects professionally term an "academic rendering" on display today in the window of the New Castle Dry Goods company, New Castle and Lawrence county residents could obtain a fair idea of what their new county court house will look like.

The large front-side sketch was attracting the attention of many passersby.

Architect A. L. Thayer, head of the Thayer company, architect for the new building, explained that an academic rendering is employed by architects for study purposes in the early stages of their planning. From it, as you will see, can be learned the building's proportions, its shadows, its mass effect and other phases important in building design. The New Castle Dry Goods exhibit is the approved and final drawing.

Mr. Thayer said that academic renderings are altered time and time again to suit the professional tastes of architects, and is only approved once every part of the design meets the designer's full desires.

The court house rendering was changed several times before it met with approval.

Plan Attack On Tariff Powers For President

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 4. — A three-pronged attack on the administration's bill, giving President Roosevelt broad tariff-slashing powers, was virtually agreed upon today at a conference of Republican senators.

With nineteen senators in attendance, the Republicans proposed to proffer three amendments, each stripping the president of a part of his proposed power. The amendments would:

1. Prevent him slashing any agricultural duty.

2. Prohibit any change in rates on basic commodities under the AAA or fixed by codes under the NRA.

3. Reduce the proposed fifty per cent spread by which the president would be empowered to change rates.

The Republicans will meet again next Tuesday to pass upon drafts of these proposed amendments.

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. Mary Ann Dart

New Castle lost one of its oldest residents this morning when death claimed Mrs. Mary Ann Dart, aged 91, widow of James C. Dart, 750 East Washington street. She died in her home at 10:10 this morning after an illness caused by her advanced age. During her younger days Mrs. Dart took an active interest in civic and church affairs, having been a member of the First Christian church.

Mrs. Dart was born in Crawford county January 8, 1843, the daughter of Hamilton J. and Hannah Sweeting Akens and had been a resident of New Castle the past fifty years.

ders but urged that if his suggestions are adopted more case visitors be added to strengthen the administrative forces. He proposed payment of cash relief through the disbursing set-up now distributing works relief checks.

The board allocated at its meeting yesterday every available dollar of releif funds to carry the direct works relief load through May—a total of $12,311,152. Works relief payrolls will take $4,600,000 in 43 counties. In the other counties funds were available to finish all uncompleted work.

Food relief allocations for May to counties totaled $6,850,882, including $402,382 for administrative costs. WARMER, BUT NOT FAIR TO ALL

STUDY of climatic conditions by the United States Weather Bureau proves the world is growing warmer. This may be a shock to New Castleites who shivered through the past winter and warmed up only when they looked at their mounting fuel bills.

Scientific inquiry has shown that the abnormal cold of the last season was confined to the northeastern part of the country, while the rest of the United States basked in more than average warmth. For "some unknown reason" the cold waves from the Arctic moved across Canada and into this part of the world instead of taking the customary course.

These inequities of weather should be taken up by the Washington professors, with the aim of leveling off peaks and depressions. There should be an end to regional discrimination on heat and cold.

THE FLEET RETURNING

It is not militarism that causes Americans to view with pride their fleet as it is returning to the Atlantic coast after a long stay in the Pacific. The feeling arises largely from a sense of security inspired by those big and little fighting craft, manned by officers and sailors of courage and skill.

The passage of the armada through the Panama canal more quickly by many hours than the time estimated would be required is a testimonial not only to those directing the aiding in the movements of the vessels but also to the men who worked the great locks and otherwise assisted in the transfer. It afforded a test of the canal that will prove valuable in the future, as it was a demonstration to the world that the United States can shift its fleet from one coast to the other with greater dispatch than had been believed possible. Under the stress of war or of threatened war, it is probable the transfer could be made much quicker than in the recent case.

The great fleet is on its way to New York, where a review by the president will form the climax of its return to the Atlantic. Thousands of persons from eastern states probably will visit the metropolis to witness this ceremony and to see the nation's defenders on the sea.

It may be that never again will these vessels or their successors be called upon to assume an active role in this respect. But there is satisfaction in the feeling of assurance and security that the sight of them gives the beholder.

COMPLETE THE LISTS

That many corporations and individuals are hoping to benefit financially by the silver inflation movement in congress is evident from the long list of holders of silver and of silver futures contracts submitted to the senate by the treasury department.

The list has not been completed. Secretary Morgenthau explained in his letter transmitting one of the lists that "certain other persons have appeared as owners of spot silver and silver futures as of January 31, 1934, but in these cases the information is not complete." He said these names would be transmitted to the chairman of senate banking and currency committee.

These names should be made public as have those already given out, in order that the country may have complete information concerning the sources from which the inflation movement is deriving its strength. Private individuals and corporations have a legitimate right to speculate in silver if they wish. For congressmen to do this, however, would have an entirely different appearance. They are the men who will decide the question. If any are among the speculators this fact ought to be known.

CORN PROBLEM IS NOT SOLVED

The AAA is up against a tough problem, and acknowledges the corn. It holds 260,000,000 bushels, sealed in farm cribs, on which the government has lent 45 cents a bushel. If the farmers sold at present prices and repaid the loans, they wouldn't have anything for their corn. They probably won't pay. Then they won't have anything for their corn, either; but what will Uncle Sam do with it if he forecloses?

The farmers have nearly 600,000,000 bushels more, not earmarked for the AAA. With it they can feed their pigs till the new harvest. But the pigs are the real problem. Pigs are merely digested corn. And "pigs is pigs" more than ever. No race suicide there, and no loss of appetite What on earth is a pig-minded government going to do, with all that pork coming on to cram an already overloaded market? Boiling up the little pigs for grease and soap is unpopular. Any kind of food destruction is bad, when there is still much privation. Anyone with a wise solution will be thanked for it by the AAA.

CONVICT LABOR MAY PROVE MULISH

Arkansas is considering the question of replacing mule power with convict labor in the cotton fields.

The idea is not predicated on any new theory of penological practice. It is merely a development in the law of supply and demand.

There's a shortage of mules and a surplus of convicts.

However, there is no guarantee that the present ratio will be maintained. In fact, if prison defections continue, Arkansas may find itself with neither mules nor convicts.

ON STRAY BULLETS

Many preachments have been made against carelessness in the use of firearms. The point cannot be over-emphasized.

The danger to innocents from such practices is a menace that can be overcome only by continually dinning at all persons on the need for extreme caution, for familiarity with rifles and pistols, and for target-shooting only when it has been definitely ascertained that ample protection has been erected against the possibility of stray bullets.

HOW TO GO

I'm not saying I know how to do it, but I do say that I know how it should be done.

I refer to this business of leaving a party when it's time to go..... You know how often a pleasant evening is spoiled by awkwardness in breaking up. We fidd' and fuddle and look at our watches and murmur tentatively that we ought to be going, we really should. Host and hostess say, oh, it's early and stay a little while longer and don't go so soon, and the guests sink back in their chairs and stay longer than they should and delay their going and go home wishing they'de gone an hour before they did.

A very silly business. What you really need is Intention, Firmness and Dispatch....During the evening pay no attention to the time at all. Enjoy every moment as if it were precious and immortal. Live joyously, even though you know that at 11 o'clock or at 11:15 you will leave this pleasant environment.... And at 11 o'clock or at 11:15. you rise, stick out your chin cheerfully and say you must be going. You're very polite but firm. It's time for you to go, you are going, and you GO....You get your hat and you get your coat and you walk to the door and say what a nice time you have had and you put out your hand and shake the hands of host and hostess and you turn and walk through the door and down the front stairs....and you are GONE Out of their lives.

You get home in time to get a fair amount of sleep. And you have left early enough for your friends to sit down easily and talk about the pleasure of the evening and to empty the ash trays and shake out a cushion or two and put the chairs back in place....and bless your memory. Everything's all right. You haven't strained the friendship. You'll be invited again some time. How nice.

How simple too. And yet practically impossible. Some people can do it, others can't. Blessings on these who can, how sad for those who can't....Perfect hospitality is a gracious thing, but it's so confoundedly difficult to remember that the perfect host cannot exist without the perfect guest....who knows when to go, and goes!

YOU CAN SUCCEED BY YOUR OWN EFFORTS

As you look about you and see the advantages which have been afforded others you think that you have not had a fair chance in the world.

ou see men whose fathers gave them a start in business by taking them in with them after their college days.

Perhaps you had no one to boost you.

Everything you have was procured by hard and individual effort.

You see others backed financially while you never had a dollar's worth of aid.

Lack of education is a handicap you regret since you have learned that it might have been a great benefit to you.

But you never blame yourself for your risk of progress.

Yet you know many men who have reached positions of importance and affluence solely by their own efforts.

They exercise self-denial, put in many hours in hard study and thought—which you, probably, never have done.

Confronted by handicaps you threw up your hands and decided it was no use.

But you might have raised yourself above the common run if you had wished hard enough.

TRIUMPH

This it is to live and be;
Neither fame nor yellow gold
Nor the passing triump hold
In the grasp of memory
Dearer joys to ponder o'er
Than the fire against the cold
And the good friends at the door.

Life is little more than this;
Howsoever strength be spent
Happy hearth and hearts content;
Evening sweet with perfect bliss;
Pleasant rooms where laughter rings
And the warm devoted kiss
Of farewells and welcomings.

Struggle howso'er we may
Howsoever high we climb
Homeward we must turn in time
Homeward at the close of day,
There to set the burdens down
And in peace to put away
All the worries of renown.

There as we are growing old,
Spite of all that may have passed,
If the love and laughter last,
Every man's success is told
Though of low or high estate
This, not fame or yellow gold
Marks the man supremely great.

Dear Old Friend: The humorous little Scotch yarn about the son of Gael who was too stingy to wear bandages on his badly mashed head on account of having to pay for their being washed started me to thinking about letters I received from my kinsman in Scotland who fell during the World war.

One of the things he mentioned in an unofficial letter was the infinite tenderness of Scotch women discernible in their donations of bandages to the various military hospitals interspersed throughout the war-torn zones of Europe.

Homely, soft and smoothly wound old linen bandages they were, contributed by Scotch women with the listening hearts, wrapped up with a prayer for the safe return of her braw solder men who had marched away to the skirling of the pipes and the booming of drums.

Great Expose This Summer
Nye Will Lift Curtain On Munitions
Telephone Also Fears Being Called Up

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, May 4.—The greatest expose of the summer will be of the international munitions' ring. Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota put through the resolution and is chairman of the senate committee.

Already three books have appeared detailing how munitions' manufacturers engender hate—and bring on wars.

This expose probably will be more sensational than the bank hearings of last spring, when Morgan appeared.

The munitions expose will be more dramatic, more significant, more terrible in its truth.

"WIDOWS AND ORPHANS"

Fearing senatorial investigation, the American Telephone & Telegraph company, world's largest monopoly, now is giving out figures on the women who are stockholders.

Of the 681,000 stockholders, 210,000 are housewives, according to the figures. Many other persons of moderate incomes are stockholders.

Critics assert: "Naturally—when a stock pays 9 per cent, more than twice the sum of a government bond—people will invest. But would it not be better to give a public service for a little more than cost, rather than charge 125 million people an exhorbitant sum?"

Incidentally, the wealth of A. T. & T. is greater than many foreign countries—and its credit is considerably better than the majority of nations'.

WHITHER?

Can the government continue to pursue a middle road?

Can the old order be maintained, or must a new order be erected?

The New York Sun, oracle of Wall Street, which is for a re-estblishment of the old order, unhampered by governmental regulation, asserts: "Whatever temporary help may come from the government in one guise or another, in the long run business can be rehabilitated only by the aid of private capital—unless our whole economic system is to be changed. Capital cannot be coaxed into enterprise unless there is a promised safety of principal and a reasonable prospect of income. Crushing taxation, redistribution of wealth and arbitary limitation of profit aren't designed to conjure up fresh supplies of capital."

We are at the crossroads, and the driver—President Roosevelt—will have to take one road or another, say the perplexed men of Wall Street.

MINUTE BIOG

John Holmes Overton, junior U. S. senator from Louisiana, is termed by many as "Huey Long's Assistant in the Senate."

Certain it is when Huey makes a speech in the senate. Overton dashes around to get the necessary documents into the hands of the gesticulting Kingfish.

It is through Huey that Overton come to the senate. There was considerable of a discussion in Mississippi concerning Overton's election in 1932. That discussion, however, has died down—due probably to lack of breath.

Senator Overton is much older than Huey. He is in his 59th year. Still, he owes his political ascendancy to the younger man.

When James B. Aswell, representative in congress from Louisiana, died, Aswell's son sought to succeed him. But Huey Long sent word that Overton would be the candidate—and thus only seven persons had the temerity to vote against Overton in a special election on May 12, 1931.

Whereupon Huey said: "Here's the man to cust Senator Edwin S. Broussard." And he was the man, in 1932.

Overton has practiced law in Louisiana since 1897. He is a graduate of three Louisiana universities. And his father was a judge before him.

His home is in Alexandria, La.

Executive Tariff-Making Power Is Undoubtedly Unconstitutional But Only Satisfactory Method

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 4—Authorizing the president to make reciprocal tariff agreements, in Uncle Sam's behalf, with other countries, independently of congressional approval unquestionably is a mighty doubtful constitutional proceeding.

If such bargains are to be regarded as treatries the constitution requires their ratification by the senate to validate them.

If they are to be regarded as financial in their nature—why, the constitution provides that all monetary legislation shall originate in the house of representatives subject to the senate's subsequent acquiescense, and, of course, to presidential approval also.

Nevertheless, it certainly is a fact as ex-Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson recently said, in support of the administration's plea for power to conclude such compacts, that none wil be concluded if congress is to have a deciding voice in the matter.

* * *

Colonel Stimson probably speaks in the light of his recollection of congressional activities during the extra session in the first half of the Hoover regime, in which he was called principally to attempt to relieve agriculture and to make a few minor tariff readjustments. What it did was to evolve a schedule of the highest tariffs in the world's history—a schedule which many economists blame for the ensuing depression: for precipitating and aggravating it, anyway.

Numerous legislators who voted for the law, or for large parts of it, declared at the time, too, that they heartily objected to it; yet had to support it, more or less, for a variety of local reasons.

Illustratively, Senator Ellison D. Smith, of South Carolina though nearly an out-and-out free trader did vote for one increase in the then-existing rates—an increase in the import tax on a particular kind of clay, used in the manufacture of fine pottery. Investigation disclosed that there is a small mountain of this quality of clay in his home commonwealth.

* * *

However, it is the trading of votes which makes resistance of tariff increases so difficult.

A lawmaker from a sugar-producing state may fully realize the undesirability of a high tariff rate to protect the comparatively small quantity of manganese mined in this country. A fellow lawmaker from a manganese-producing state equally realizes that sugar already is over-protected. But the lawmaker from the sugar-producing state must support a manganese increase to induce the lawmaker from the manganese producing state to support a sugar increase, and vice versa.

Likewise the principle of excluding some commodity which the United States does not produce at all, in order to compel Americans to accept a domestic substitute for it, now is well established. For example, the task of framing the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill was marked by a hard fight to shut out bananas which climatically are practically impossible to grow here, to force folk to eat apples.

* * *

Senator Edward P. Costigan, of Colorado, a former member of the U. S. Tariff Commission, gives it as his opinion that some statesmen love protection for itself alone whether or not there is anything to be protected.

But this sentiment, it is the consensus in Washington, is not what makes Congress so hopeless a body to appeal to for rate reduction, on a reciprocal or any other basis: the difficulty is to prevent the lawmakers from swapping votes, to meet the absolute necessities (if they are to be re-elected) created by demands on them from their respective home states and congressional districts

The tariff-making power sought by President Roosevelt may, indeed be unconstitutional.

It remains an obvious truth that it seems the only means by which internationally reciprocal modifications ever can be effected—if they are desirable.

May 4, 1626—Peter Minuit, a Prussian, landed on the island we know as Manhattan and proceeded to buy it for the Dutch from the Amerindians for trinkets worth about 60 gilders. The fort he erected at the southern end of the island was the first building in what is now the largest city in the world.

Like many another ruler of the city, he was deposed upon charges of grafting (beating the Dutch!) and entered the service of Sweden. He made another deal with Amerindians for Delaware, established New Sweden there with 50 colonists from Gothenburg.

The Dutch lost Manhattan Island to the British, but they got more out of it than the English. For surrendering it to English rule they received in trade what is now Dutch Cuiana, rich colonial possession.

May 4, 1864—The desperate battle of the Wilderness, opened of bloodiest military campaign in the world's history, began between armies led by Grant and Lee. It was the beginning of the end of the war for Grant gave Lee no respite thereafter, despite the fearful losses he sustained.

Coroner Visits Scene Of Blast

Inquiry Into Circumstances Which Resulted In Death Of Miss Drake, Started

FIND PIPE IN CELLAR WAS OPEN

Several new angles were thrown into the explosion in the home at 16 onto the explosion in the home at 16 morning, which resulted in the death of Miss Lois Drake of Bessemer, in the Jameson Memorial hospital Thursday morning, when an inspection of the premises was made by Coroner Orville Potter, J. Clyde Gilfillan, owner of the house which was damaged, and Messrs. Ross and Burnett of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, Thursday afternoon.

It developed that gas was escaping from two sources in the cellar of the home, one from an open pipe and the other from the shut-off valve over the furnace.

Mrs. Mullett Gives Story

The pipe, which was found open, had been used as a connection to a hot plate or stove by the previous tenant. The gas had been escaping from these two jets more than a half hour, Mrs. D. D. Mullett, who was in the home with Miss Drake when the explosion occurred, stated Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Mullett was questioned at the hospital by Coroner Potter and stated that she had asked the gas company for service on Monday, and that she was told by a representative who inspected the house that it could not be turned on until the connection to the kitchen stove was capped.

She said that Wednesday morning she secured a cap and placed over the kitchen connection and felt that it was safe to turn the gas on at the meter, as she was told by the service man from the gas company that this was all that was necessary.

After putting on the plug she stated that she went down into the cellar and turned the gas on at the meter, according to the instructions she had received from the man representing the gas company. She then lighted the gas under the hot water tank. She found that the cap in the kitchen leaked a little bit as she tested it with a match, and finally made it tight enough by pounding the cap.

Heard Gas Escape

The pipe which was found uncapped in the cellar was only a few feet away from the meter. Mrs. Mullett stated that she had heard the gas hissing when it escaped at that point, and noticed that the indicator in the meter revolved fairly fast, but felt that this was due to the pipes filling up in the house.

She then went upstairs to resume the work of cleaning up about the home, as they planned to move in on Thursday.

It was shortly before 10 o'clock, she felt, when she had turned on the gas, and it was a little after 10:30 when she found the water was getting pretty hot. She told Miss Drake to go down and turn the gas down under the hot water tank.

Mrs. Mullett stated she had been working on a stepladder in the kitchen. When Miss Drake opened the cellar door to go down into the cellar she exclaimed, "Oh, Mrs. Mullett, I smell gas." Mrs. Mullett stated that she started to get down off the stepladder. Miss Drake had probably reached the bottom of the cellar stairs when the explosion occurred. Mrs. Mullett stated that she must have been temporarily stunned, as the next she realized was when she saw Miss Drake out in the back yard, where she had been carried by Fireman Mally, with her clothes all ablaze. She grabbed an old coat and went out to smother out the flames, after which Mr. Malley returned and wrapped a quilt around Miss Drake.

Mrs. Mullett stated that she was unaware of any flash when the explosion occurred, but was certain there must have been, as she received serious burns about the face and left shoulder.

The house evidently was raised up off its foundations and then set back down again. It was moved off the foundation several inches, in addition to having most of the windows and doors blown out.

Thursday afternoon it was discovered that a robin had built a nest over the electric wires where they enter the front of the home. The explosion had not frightened the mother robin away, as she was still sitting on her eggs.

Coroner Potter has as yet given no decision fixing the blame for the explosion.

The next meeting will be on Thursday afternoon of next week instead of Friday.

STREET WORK FINISHED

The city scraper and roller which have been used on the unpaved streets of seventh ward during the past week finished the job Thursday and were taken back to the streets' department headquarters.

On Thursday city workmen ran the scraper and roller over Orchard, South Cedar and Maple streets, finishing up by rolling Plum alley (between Liberty and Ashland.)

Practically all of the unpaved streets of the ward, with the exception of a few that already were in good condition, were scraped and rolled this week.

SHOVEL WORK ENDED

Workmen for M. J. Scanlon have completed the project of the P. & L. E. railroad company on Plum alley—that of preparing the alley for paving. By use of a steam shovel the alley was leveled considerably and a strip of ground was prepared for the laying of a sidewalk.

WORK ON GUTTERS

State highway department men have been employed during the past several days in clearing the gutter along the west side of Atlantic avenue. They have shaped up the berm along that side during this period also.

BIG STAMP SALE

Superintendent E. M. McBride of the Mahoningtown postoffice stated this morning that the Mother's Day stamps are selling rapidly. Scores of requests for blocks of 50 and a hundred stamps have been received at the local office. The Mother's Day stamps are somewhat larger than the usual size three-cent stamp.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S CHOIR

The Young People's choir will meet at the Mahoning M. E. church at 7:00 o'clock this evening.

CONDUCTORS' WIVES

A business meeting of the ladies auxiliary to the O. R. C. was conducted in the city building Thursday afternoon. Plans were made to have a tureen dinner before the next regular business meeting opens, May 17, with Mrs. H. S. Gillespie, Mrs. Roy Clark and Mrs. Fred Flowers in charge.

Yesterday's meeting was well attended.

READY BY FIFTEENTH

The Cherry Street Athletic Association hopes to have the tennis courts ready by May 15. There is little work that remains to be done but rain is needed before the courts can be properly rolled and leveled. The guard wires will be erected in a few days.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Leonard Thomas, a student of Penn college, Cleveland, O., is spending several weeks at his home, 411 West Cherry street.

Executives Plan For Convention

County Convention Will Take Place June 14 In Ellwood City Church

The regular monthly meeting of the executive committee of the Lawrence County Sabbath School association was held at the Y. W. C. A. Thursday evening, with the president, Robert M. Strickler, Jr., presiding, and the following members present:

The three vice presidents, P. M. Marshall of Wampum, P. W. Griffin of Bessemer and H. W. Brown of Ellwood City; Mrs. M. E. Vaughn, secretary; John W. Owens, adult superintendent; A. R. Kildoo, parent training superintendent; J. H. Lusk, president Wilmington district; Mrs. J. H. Lusk and D. S. Williams.

The chief matter for discussion was the coming Lawrence county convention to be held at the First Presbyterian church, Ellwood City, morning, afternoon and evening sessions Thursday, June 14.

It was voted to request Rev. A. M. Stevenson to deliver the convention sermon at the morning session. The state association is sending the director of young people's work, E. H. Bonsall, and also Rev. David Witte, director of Christian education for the Pittsburgh Baptist association. Dr. R. A. Martin of Pittsburgh and Dr. William Parsons will also be on the program.

It was voted to request for the inspirational speaker for the afternoon and evening sessions President R. F. Galbreath of Westminster college.

Noon and evening meals will be served at the convention church and George B. Wilson, president of the Ellwood district, is the general chairman for the convention.

Claim Japan Gains Markets

Making Gains In South America At Expense Of U. S. Trade

(International News Service)

(Copyright, 1933, By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Japan is capturing American trade markets in Latin America right and left, according to a confidential report compiled by the state department.

This report, based on information obtained by American diplomatic and commercial representatives in the Latin American republics, discloses that depreciation of the American dollar has failed to stop the expansion drive of the Japanese merchants, who are continuing to capture American markets by underselling the Yankee trader as much as 50 per cent.

The Japanese competition has reached such serious proportions that it was feared it might interfere with President Roosevelt's plan to strengthen the bonds of economic unity with South America through the conclusion of reciprocal trade agreements.

Gillespie-Astor Romance Is Over

John Jacob Astor, 3rd, Returns From Trip Around World; Talks Of Romance

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 4.—John Jacob Astor, 3rd, was back home today after a trip around the world in which he sought to forget his blasted romance with Eileen Gillespie.

Astor openly blamed Miss Gillespie's parents for the breaking of the engagement.

"If I am bitter it is not against Miss Gillespie," he said, "but against her parents. There would have been no trouble if they hadn't interfered. Why, they even wanted to go with us on our honeymoon. That's going pretty far."

Astor added that a $100,000 32-carat diamond ring, which he had given Miss Gillespie on the occasion of their engagement, had not been returned to him.

When advised of young Astor's remarks his former fiancee's mother said:

"As far as I am concerned the incident is closed."

New Salt Factory Helps Jugoslavia

(International News Service)

ULCINJ, Jugoslavia.—With the opening here at the end of the month of a factory to produce salt from sea water, Jugoslavia will be able almost to cover its salt consumption from domestic sources.

Formerly a large portion of the domestic consumption of salt had to be imported from Austria amounting often to over 60,000 tons annually.

The new works here, when operating at capacity, are expected to produce roughly 50,000 tons annually. The local plant covers roughly 2,000 acres and has 103 basins.

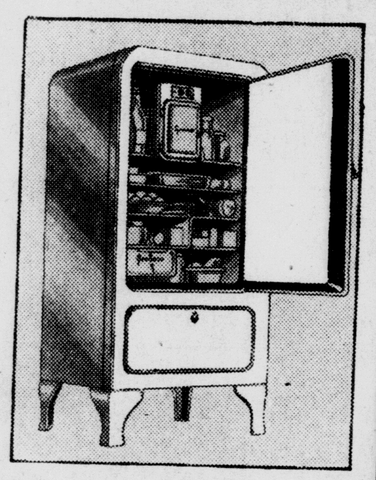

The true English red squirrel is in some danger of extinction there as a result of the introduction of the American grey squirrel.

CONTINUE DILLINGER HUNT IN CHICAGO

Believe Bandit Is Now Holed-up

Search In Area Where Blood Soaked Auto Was Recently Found

BELIEVE DESPERADO HAS SERIOUS WOUND

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, May 4—Search for the phantom desperado, John Dillinger, assumed the aspects of grim warfare today when police mobilized a special force of marksmen, equipped with special armament to augument federal forces leading the man hunt.

The new and intensive search was launched when authorities became convined that America's No. 1 desperado is wounded and in hiding here until his wounds mend.

Believed Holed-Up

In quest of the hideout where Dillinger and his outlaw band of killers are believed "holed-up" the man hunt surged over the north and northwest sections of the city, particularly in the North Leavitt St. area where the blood stained automobile of Dillinger was found abandoned.

This car, seized in South St. Paul, Minn., was used by Dillinger and his men to flee here following the Wisconsin North Woods shooting April 22.

Forty detectives, all picked men, joined the federal operatives in the search here.

Today

Two Plans: Shoot, Hire.

Pigs That Dig Truffles.

Bankruptcy For Cities.

Socialism? It's Here.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THERE ARE two schools of what might be humorously called "economic thought" in the United States. The first is outlined in a letter signed F. G., addressed to Messrs. Vincent Astor, William Averell Harriman and Mrs. C. C. Rumsey, who publish a weekly.

The writer says he had "no part in the late financial madness," and has nothing left but "obligations fixed by law." He was a builder, employing men, paying wages, and now: "I stand among my worthless houses and wonder at the wreck of fifty years of economic thrift." This same "F. G." expresses his idea thus:

"I would like to shoot the worst of the population and put the rest to work for their bread and butter. Why should they live on me?"

THAT IS one idea, shoot the worthless, put the others to work.

The idea, at the opposite end of the scale, is to encourage the worthless, encourage their belief that they are "as good as anybody," give them a thirty-hour week of five days, six hours a day, paying more than was paid formerly for a real week's work, and taking the money in taxes from those whose "base nature and lack of true Americanism" has enabled them to make money.

NEITHER OF the "new era" political schemes will work. This country will not try the experiment of "shooting the worthless population and putting the rest to work for their bread and butter."

Just at present, it is experimenting with confiscation through taxation in the hope of establishing over night a little perpetual-motion Utopia.

BUT THAT will not work, either. In the Perigord region, where muzzled hogs are used to root up truffles that they smell below the ground, it has been found necessary to give the hogs a fair percentage of the truffles. Otherwise, they stop digging. Government will find that its American money digger will also stop digging, if the government insists on taking it away from him as fast as he digs it.

"WHY DIG?" he will ask, "why not go on the dole, or take a little 'bunch of money,' go to Switzerland or Canada and live at peace?"

THE SENATE has passed, the President is expected to sign a "municipal bankruptcy bill," which would allow cities that cannot or do not want to pay interest or principal on bonded debts go through bankruptcy like a Christian, and get rid of debt.

This will relieve some citizens now taxed to pay interest and principal, and relieve the minds of grafting politicians that have piled up the local debts.

It will not be so pleasant for gentlemen that preach high taxes for others, and invested their own money in tax-exempt securities. Municipal bonds are tax-exempt securities, and under the new law they fade away like the Cheshire cat, leaving nothing but a pleasant smile.

MR. POLLARD, receiver for a bankrupt southern railroad, hearing somebody say something about "government ownership of railroads," remarks solemnly:

"If this should happen, other industries would follow, and a condition of Socialism would prevail."

A railroad receiver is hardly one to speak convincingly against government ownership, for, after all, such ownership could not do worse than make railroads bankrupt.

AS FOR SOCIALISM, while Mr. Orville Wright, one of the brothers that invented the airplane, says we shall have "Socialism in ten years," others, who know what the word means, can tell him and Mr. Pollard Socialism is being tried here now, and also a polite form of Communism.

Socialism is a plan to regulate hours, wages, conditions of work, thus promoting the happiness of the greatest number. NRA is trying to do that.

Communism would take from those that have and give to those that have not, scattering the golden rain upon the just and unjust, the thrifty and the thriftless. This nation is generously doing that with the taxpayers' money.

THAT SOCIALISM has come already seems to be accepted by those that should know. All the assorted tints of "red radicalism" in New York paraded on Tuesday. Europe's Labor Day, one hundred thousand strong, in various groups, Communists, Socialists marched and made speeches as mild as any "mother's meeting." Policemen with "night clubs" prepared for heavy duty, report nothing to do, "not a single skull cracked."

WITH A GOVERNMENT taking it from the prosperous and handing it to the idle, printing billions of bonds, to hand money out more rapidly for public works and relief of all kinds, little room is left for those that tell the masses:

"Arise, throw off your chains. You have nothing to lose but your poverty."

MORE IMPORTANT to real recovery and prosperity than theoretical talk is the red night sky that you may see above Cleveland for the first time in two years. It means that the blast furnaces are operating in Cleveland steel plants. That really MEANS SOMETHING. Highbrows of the brain trust point to it, saying that the red in the Cleveland sky offsets quite a number of Professor Kirts looking for a red flame in the President's cabinet.

FOUND RELIEF FROM CATARRH BY TAKING NEW TONIC, VENDOL

Retired New Castle Man Bothered By Phlegm And Tickling In Throat, Disturbed Sleep, Stomach Disorders. Feels Much Better Now, He Says.

MR. J. A. REEHER

"I read such favorable reports about Vendol in the papers from those who had tried it that I decided to take some myself, as I felt the need of a good reliable medicine," declared Mr. J. A. Reeher of 114 South Crawford Avenue, New Castle, to the Vendol Man in the New Castle Drug Company.

"I have done a lot of hard work in my time, but retired some time ago. Lately I have been suffering from a Catarrhal condition which kept my throat full of phlegm and caused a tickling all the time. It seemed I could not clear this out completely, and this caused a lot of coughing and expectorating, both of which were a strain on my system. This bothered me both during the day and after I went to bed. Some times the phlegm would rise in my throat after I went to sleep and would awaken me, and I would have to get up to clear out my throat.

"My digestion was rather weak, and I was often bothered with gas and sour stomach. I had to deny myself such things as tomatoes, sour kraut and pickles, as they always disagreed with me.

"I have taken four bottles of Vendol, and find that it is a splendid tonic, and I think it will be good for any one, especially those of advanced years, because it creates a good appetite, which produces strength.

"I find that I am eating better and seldom have the gas or sourness, and the Catarrhal condition has been greatly improved. Vendol has been very satisfactory to me, so I am glad to give it my recommendation."

Come to the New Castle Drug Company, 31 East Washington street, ask for me, the Vendol Man, and I'll explain all about my grand medicine that is helping so many people right here in town and tell you honestly what you may expect it to do for you—so come today if possible. Vendol is sold also at the 24 North Mill street store.

Shakeup In House Leadership In View Of Apparent Bungling Would Be Difficult To Effect

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—A federal supreme court justiceship is about the only appointment that any American public man would be likely to consider a fair equivalent for the speakership of the house of representatives.

The presidency, of course, is preferable to the speakership, but the presidency isn't appointive.

The vice presidency's contingent possibilities may give it a value superior to the speakership's, but not unless the former's contingencies are realized. In other words, the vice presidency is a gamble, as against the certainty of the speakership's importance. There is considerable evidence that Vice President John Garner, for example, wishes he hadn't exchanged the speaker's gavel for his present one. And, anyway, the vice presidential post isn't appointive, either.

* * *

Even the majority floor leadership of the house of representatives is of more consequence than any position within the executive mansion's gift, except a seat on the United States supreme court bench, or maybe a cabinet portfolio.

A member of the managerial group in the representatives' congressional chamber exercises real power. So, too, does a supreme court justice—perhaps more than any one of the representatives' small coterie of bosses. Besides, a supreme court justiceship is a permanency. A cabinet official, however, must subordinate himself to the White House. A senator's prestige is greater than any ordinary representative's, but it is not on a par with the prestige of a place in the representatorial majority leadership.

A leading representative is a mighty potent individual because, under the representatives' rules, he can enforce his authority.

A senate leader can't. The senate's rules are different.

* * *

When we hear, then, that President Roosevelt is planning to change his party's leadership in the house of representatives by kicking Speaker Henry T. Rainey and Floor Manager Joseph W. Byrns upstairs—by nominally promoting Speaker Rainey to a seat, say, on the United States tariff commission, and Manager Byrns to one on the federal trade board, thus enabling him to put a more efficient staff of spokesmen in charge of administration policies on Capitol Hill—

Why, "Tush!" is the correct answer to such rumors.

This may happen:

The presidential influence, with the rank and file of Democratic representatives elected in November to the next congress, may be such that it will be evident to Speaker Rainey and Leader Byrns themselves that the skids are under them; and in that event they may accept a couple of face-saving executive appointments.

But, if so, they will not do it under the slightest misapprehension that they are being promoted.

* * *

What's more, they will not be skidded out of public life without resistance.

Speaker Rainey, in President Wilson's day, when far less formidable a factor in politics than at present, declined as good a job (I have the information from as reliable a source as Rainey himself) as the governor general of the Philippines, rather than go into comparative retirement.

Leader Byrns, as chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, undoubtedly has had more than any other man in America to do with the election of Jeffersonian candidates to the house of representatives.

Is it to be expected that either of them will be easy to shelve by presidential mandate?

The White House presumably does consider that Rainey and Byrns have partly bungled their task of leadership and, in part, that Byrns, particularly, has been out of sympathy with it—too conservative. But to assume that they will be easy to appoint out of the way, without knowing it, is ridiculous.

Interesting reports of the Presbyterial meeting were given by Mrs. Carl Wilson and Mrs. Minerva Rowland. Mrs. George W. Conway reviewed the study book, the chapter being on "Women and Children in Industry."

The hostesses concluded their hospitality of the evening with a dainty lunch.

Services Draw Crowd

Another special musical treat was given at the City Rescue Mission in the opening hour of the evangelistic services conducted by Evangelist Homer Sayer. Gerald Fogle, musician of the party gave selections on his musical instruments closing with "I'd Rather Be On The Inside Looking Out." The men from the Harlansburg Baptist of which Rev. Wm. Hammond is pastor gave several selections and a duet "He's My Best Friend" was given by Mrs. Herbert Linton and Mrs. Charles Robinson. "Arguments of Prayer" by the evangelist brought out many facts on the prayer life of the people. At the close of the service Gerald Fogle sang "Will My Future Address be Heaven?"

The monthly meeting of the W. M. S. of the First Baptist church took place Thursday evening with Mrs. C. E. Klingensmith as the leader and Mrs. N. L. Gardner and Mrs. W. H. Williams conducting the devotionals.

Seek To Ease Provisions Of Control Bill

Passage Of Rayburn Stock Exchange Control Bill In House Expected Today

CRITICS CONTINUE TO ASSAIL BILL

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Three major attempts to ease provisions of the Rayburn Stock Exchange bill were slated in the house before its expected final passage late today.

The bi-partisan proposals to be offered on the measure, which thus far has survived all opposition, were:

1. Creation of independent commission, instead of federal trade commission, to administer it.

2. Elimination of provisions making violation of a regulation of the commission a penitentiary offense.

3. Substitution of the Bulwinkle bill, which is based upon the report of the Roper committee.

Criticism Heard.

As critics continued to assail the measure as an unwarranted interference with business, Chairman Rayburn (D) of Texas of the interstate commerce committee, demanded it be approved in its entirety.

With two-third of the bill completed, the house had backed Rayburn on virtually every issue and passage was expected by an overwhelming vote.

Rep. Bulwinkle (D) of North Carolina, was to offer an amendment creating an independent commission, with indications that the house would reject it. Rep. Cooper (R) of Ohio, has an amendment eliminating violation of regulations of the commission from the list of penitentiary offenses, while Rep. Merritt (R) of Connecticut, planned to make a motion to recommit the bill back to the committee with instructions to substitute the Bulwinkle measure.

Tigers Club Has Monthly Meeting

Thursday night's regular monthly meeting of the Tigers club, held in the Tigers club rooms, South Mill street, proved an interesting one.

Plans for the Tigers club annual picnic scheduled for Sunday, July 15, were made. Adolph DeGennaro was recently named general chairman.

At the meeting the members endorsed the Sons of Italy plan to present a petition to the New Castle school board asking that the Italian language be taught in the New Castle high school. The membership drive now being conducted is proving a success.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served.

Virginia Bruce Seeking Divorce

Young Wife Of John Gilbert "Great Lover Of Screen" Seeks Freedom

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, May 4—On the screen John Gilbert was a "perfect lover."

But as a husband four broken marriages testified Thursday to the actor's difficulties in his domestic life.

Asserting he was "violent and abusive" Virginia Bruce, former Follies girl and his fourth wife had on file her long anticipated suit for divorce.

Gilbert has been successively divorced from Olivia Burwell, Leatrice Joy and Ina Claire.

Gilbert and Miss Bruce were married August 10, 1932. At that time Miss Bruce was starting on what promised to be a good career of her own in the movies but she announced that she wanted a husband, a home and children more than anything else in the world, so she gave up acting.

Their baby was born nine months ago.

They separated—"the best of friends"—and at first denied that a divorce was contemplated. However the case came to court.

Ruling Given On Mexican Divorces

Jurist In Los Angeles Rules That United States Cannot Recognize Divorces

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, May 4.—The United States Supreme Court probably will be called upon to rule on the legality of Mexican "mail order" divorces, it was indicated today following a ruling by Superior Judge Frank M. Smith in setting aside a Juarez, Mex., degree obtained by Attorney Carl S. Kegley.

The decision handed down in the case of Kegley who sought to have the Mexican decree validated in order to make his marriage to Alice Polk legal may affect the marital status of many members of the Hollywood film colony.

Judge Smith ruled the state could not recognize the validity of such divorces, even when both parties consented to the action. Judge Smith held that Kegley still was legally married to Mrs. Hazel Edgar Kegley although Kegley married Miss Polk in Phoenix, Ariz., the day the Mexican decree was granted.

Don't Park In Washington Street

Chief Asks Autoists To Give "Kiddies" Chance To See Parade

Police Chief Haven today requested drivers of automobiles and trucks to not park in Washington street between Dufford's store and the Shenango river bridge between 10 a. m. and the time the circus parade ends Saturday.

He said that when cars park on both sides of the street and a circus is parading the "kiddies" leave the sidewalk and in order to see the parade crowd into the cartway, near the street car tracks.

"I believe that the autoists will be considerate tomorrow and not park on either side of Washington street from 10 a. m. until the time the parade is over," the chief said.

Wounded Woman Tells Amazing Story Of Crime

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Fontaine, From Hospital Bed, Reveals Life Of Crime

MANY ARRESTS WILL FOLLOW

Revelations May Solve Three Murders, Two Kidnapings And Numerous Robberies

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 4.—Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Fontaine, who was shot by gangsters in an effort to silence her, has talked at last, it was revealed by department of justice agents.

The 29-year-old beauty, said to have deserted her husband in Canada to take up the life of a mobster's "moll," has recited from her bed in Delaware County hospital at Upper Darby an amazing story that promises to solve three murders, two kidnapings, a $60,000 bank robbery, a dozen hijackings and a series of mail robberies.

Tells Story.

With a French-Canadian accent, the wounded woman whispered a narrative which has already led to the arrest of four men, believed to be members of the gang with which she consorted for a year before she was kidnaped, taken to an Upper Darby apartment and shot through the breast as she slept.

Furthermore, Federal agents disclosed, a man and a woman who were supposedly present when Mrs. Fontaine was shot, are under close Surviillance in a West Philadelphia apartment and their arrest is momentarily anticipated.

Expect Arrests.

The authorities refused to divulge the names of the suspects under arrest at Richmond or the names of the couple being watched in West Philadelphia. They also surrounded with strict secrecy the details of the crimes which Mrs. Fontain's account revealed.

Federal investigators also said another man, believed to be the leader of the gang, is under surveillance in Washington, D. C., headquarters of the criminal mob. The gang, it was said, committed its murders and depredations in the district of Columbia, Virginia and Maryland.

May Recover.

Mrs. Fontaine, abandoning her home and husband in Canada, learned the mobsters' secrets while she lived for a year as the "moll" of "Big George" Phillips who was killed in Washington, D. C., last April 12 in a gun duel with police, authorities asserted.

As the result of her story the police guard at her bedside today was doubled and the armed officers were instructed to shoot to kill any suspicious person who treid to break into the hospital room. Although the brunette Canadian woman is in serious condition, doctors said she will recover.

Upon motion of Councilman Jos. D. Alexander yesterday members of council granted permission to the Socialists party to hold a meeting in council chambers, city hall, Sunday afternoon.

Talking about castor oil etc., the container is a decanter, the oil is served in wine glasses, "wash' given in a beer glass and the tray is an advertisement for a brewery.

The Tin Can Brigade is operating one truck and it ought to be in the vicinity of West Meyer avenue today. Residents who have tin cans want to have them hauled away so they can clean up. The chassis and truck purchased recently by the city have not yet been delivered.

"No trick to keep clothes nice with quick, safe Chipso" says this smiling mother

BETTY JANE, ROSEMARY, RUTH ANN, MRS. DEYHLE AND HERBERT, JR., PHOTOGRAPHED IN THEIR HOME IN BOND HILL, CINCINNATI, OHIO

"Three little girls and a small baby boy make plenty of washing, but Chipso helps me manage it without any trouble," declares Mrs. Herbert F. Deyhle.

"Chipso gives better suds than any soap I have ever used. It is certainly a dirt-chaser . . . just soaks dirt out. I never have hard rubbing to do. Yet Chipso is as easy on the clothes as it is quick-acting on dirt. I wash everything with Chipso—the girls' knickers and socks, as well as the cottons and heavier pieces. I never have any trouble with colors fading. All the woolens are fluffy and soft, even the baby's blankets which have to be washed so often."

Chipso is SOAPIER. It is not adulterated with harsh, "dirt-cutting" ingredients, but loosens dirt SAFELY with RICHER SUDS.

Don't endanger the clothes you have spent good money for by washing them in cheap flakes or strong, harsh soaps and powders.

Get your big box of CHIPSO from your grocer. At its low price, you will find this rich, SAFE soap the best soap value on the market today.

"I can tell that Chipso is safe," says Mrs. Deyhle, "because it is so nice for my hands. After washing dishes with Chipso I can go right to sewing on silk, or can run my hand through silk stockings, without ruffling a thread! Herbert Jr.'s wool jacket feels soft and new after repeated Chipso washings, although rich Chipso suds take the dirt out of his rompers WITHOUT HARD RUBBING. My white crepe-de-chine dress DID NOT TURN YELLOW in a whole summer's Chipso washing."

Under the will of the late Robert F. Wallace, probated at the office of Register and Recorder, William R. Hanna, all of his estate is left to the United Presbyterian church of Wurtemburg, and affiliated organizations. The will provides first that $50 be paid to the parsonage fund; second, $50 to the Missionary fund, and third, that the residue of the estate go to the general fund of the United Presbyterian church.

According to a check of the marriage licenses issued by Prothonotary R. M. Campbell, there were 65 more licenses issued in April of this year than during April of 1933. In 1933 there were 110 licenses issued, and this year, 175. The number issued in April this year exceeds those issued in March by 32, the March number being 143. The increase in the number of licenses issued is believed to be an indication of more prosperous times. Ohio is still contributing in a large measure to the marriage license business here, the greater number of applicants coming from Youngstown, Cleveland and Akron.

The New Castle Mutual Building and Loan association has issued a writ of attachment at the prothonotary's office against William R. and Helen Fulwood in which the sheriff is directed to attach any money due the defendants by Rachael, L. Specimens of ballots for the spring primary to be held on May 15th are on file at the County Commissioners' office. They show four candiates for United States Senator on the Republican ticket; sixteen candidates for governor of Pennsylvania; fourteen candidates for lieutenant governor; four candidates for secretary of internal affairs; two for judge of the superior court; four for congress in this district; six for representatives in the general assembly, first district, which is New Castle, and two candidates for places on the Republican state committee. Some of the candidates on the gubernatoral ticket have withdrawn since the ballots were printed. In addition to the candidates on national, state and county tickets, electors will vote for county committeemen in all of the different precincts of the city and county. Both Republican and Democratic committeemen are to be elected.

There are 1578 voters in the First ward of this city, according to the return of registrars at the county commissioners' office. The first precinct has 514 voters, of whom 288 are men and 226 women. There are 454 registered as Republicans and 60 Democrats.

In the second district there are 546 voters, of whom 336 are men and 210 are women.

In the third district there are 518 voters, of whom 282 are men and 236 women. There are 455 Republicans, 61 Democrats and 2 Prohibitionists in this district.

Deputy Sheriff Elmer P. Taylor today mailed out notices to 24 grand jurors and 70 petit jurors for the June term of court. The grand jurors are to appear on the first Monday of June and the petit jurors on the second Monday. A second petit jury was also drawn for the June term of court to whom notices will be sent out later.

Will of the late William F. Cragle of Park Gate has been admitted to probate at the register and recorder's office. He leaves all his property, real and personal to his daughter, Grace E. Howell. Mrs. Howell is also named as executrix of the will.

Alderman L. C. Mantz reports that only one applicant for a crop loan has come in since an extension of time was granted. There are possibly some farmers who may not know of this extension. The time limit in which applications for loans can be made, was supposed to expire on May 1, but it has been extended until May 15. Farmers do not appear to have taken much interest in these loans. Either they do not need any money or they do not care to fill out the blanks which require considerable data.

REMOVE MULCH GRADUALLY FROM STRAWBERRY PLANTS

Mulch put on the strawberry patch last fall to protect the plants from winter injury will have to be removed this spring.

Part of the thickest mulch should be removed from over the rows after danger of severe frost is past and before the plants under the mulch begin to turn yellow. This will allow the new leaves to push through the thin covering of straw which remains. As the season advances the mulch should be lifted and the plants beneath examined The first sign of yellowing is a sure indication that the mulch should be removed.

Most, if not all, of the surplus straw should be forked over into the middle between the rows and tramped down. Here it will help to conserve moisture, smother weeds, and later avoid excessive packing of the soil by the berry pickers. Any great excess of straw should be removed from the patch.

Do not remove all of the straw from the rows, as the plants will grow up through a light covering, and a little mulch will help to keep the berries clean and free from dirt and grit. If only a light covering was applied in the fall, it is well to go over the patch to raise and loosen the straw over occasional plants which are too heavily covered. At the same time the straw may be more evenly distributed over the row. This may be done as easily with the hands as with a fork.

When unseasonable late frosts threaten as the flowers are open or nearly open, the crop of ten may be saved by re-covering the plants with a heavy layer of mulch, which must be removed immediately as soon as the cold spell is over.

PREPARE WOOL RIGHT TO GET BEST RETURN

Within the next few weeks more than 3,000,000 pounds of wool will be shorn and prepared for market in Pennsylvania.

While the value of this clip has been determined somewhat by the feed and care given the sheep during the past year, a few acts which influence the value can be performed at shearing time.

Simple, practical and inexpensive suggestions for putting the wool up in the best possible condition follow:

1. Shear on a clean floor.
2. Shear sheep when perfectly dry.
3. Remove all dung locks from fleeces.
4. Roll fleeces flesh side out.
5. Tie with paper twine. Never use binder twine.
6. Store wool in a cool, dry place until sold.

Lawrence county sheepmen are reminded that their wools are competing on the market with properly prepared fleeces from other sources, and it is exceedingly important from the standpoint of financial return that the locally produced wools compete favorably.

PASTURE GROWS BETTER IF NOT GRAZED EARLY

Good pasture furnishes one of the best and cheapest feeds on many dairy farms, but early spring grazing is injurious to the grass, especially if it has been pastured late and close the previous fall.

In a test at the Ohio Experiment station the first plot grazed in a series of plots pastured in rotation produced the following year only about half as much an acre as the others on which the stock was turned after the grass had more time to grow in the spring. A good sod must have vigorous roots. The roots are made from material manufactured in the tops. If the tops are not allowed to grow the roots cannot grow to any extent and the sod is likely to be weakened. Keeping the cows off a week or two longer in the spring may mean 50 per cent more grass later in the season and the following year.

Grass stimulates the production of milk. Young grass, however, contains a low percentage of dry matter, sometimes only 10 per cent, early in the season. Later there may be 25 per cent dry matter. To produce 30 or 40 pounds of milk daily, a cow must consume 150 pounds of grass to get the necessary quantity of dry matter. This means that the grass must be plentiful.

Young immature grass may contain as much protein as green legumes, such as clover and alfalfa. This early grass stimulates milk production but a high producing cow may lose flesh because of a shortage of carbonhydrates in the grass at this time.

The grain fed on early pasture need not contain a high percentage of protein. A grain mixture that analyzes around 12 to 16 per cent crude protein can be used to advantage at this time. Grain, such as corn, oats or barley, can constitute the majority of the mixture. As the pasture season advances and the grass becomes older and tougher, the proportion of portein drops and that of carbonhydrates increases. This calls for a gradual change in the grain mixture. A 16 to 20 per cent crude protein grain mixture will meet the changing conditions in the pasture.

The rate of feeding grain on pasture will vary with the quality and the amount of pasture available. Cows giving less than 20 to 25 pounds of milk daily will need little or no grain if the pasture is good. Cows producing more milk should receive a pound of grain for each 5 or 6 pounds of milk if the test is 3 to 4 per cent butterfat Cows with a higher butterfat test, such as Guernseys and Jerseys, should receive about one pound of grain for each 4 to 5 pounds of milk daily. As the pasture season advances, and if the pasture becomes dry and scarce, the rate of feeding must be increased.

Pasture is such an indefinite term that a dairyman must use judgment in making up a grain mixture and the amount of feed. On early pasture, grain feeding may not pay very large dividends.

Grain feeding on pasture is a profitable practice, if an extreme drop in milk production during July and August can be prevented and the cows can be put in the barn in the fall of the year at a higher level of production and in a good condition of flesh.

SAVE CABBAGES FROM ROOT MAGGOT ATTACK

Cabbage root maggots are destructive pests of radish, cabbage, and related plants. Since the maggots destroy a large part of the roots, the plants wilt and die.

Control is commonly obtained by using a solution of corrosive sublimate which is made by dissolving one ounce of the poison in eight gallons of water, or at this rate for summer quantities. The corrosive sublimate should be used at the rate of one-half teacupful to each plant, such as cabbage. It will be most effective if applied around the plants when the ground is dry, but not caked, as the soil must be saturated.

Make three applications, the first soon after the plants are set and two later at 10-day intervals. No damage will result except on very young plants if the leaves become wet with the material.

Small discs cut out of tar paper and placed about the plants as soon as they are set in the field give protection from maggots. Wireworms or cutworms are most likely to find a hiding place near the plants when the pads are used than where corrosive sublimate is applied.

Where finely ground tobacco dust can be obtained cheaply this material may be scattered on the surface of the soil around the stems of the plants. To be effective, the layer of tobacco should be at least one inch deep and should be removed every 10 days until three treatments are made.

Neither gunpowder nor guns were invented in the modern sense of the word. They were developments that in their earlier forms were scarcely distinguishable from previous types.

Distribution Of Wealth Is Favored

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 4.—A just basis for the distribution of wealth must be inaugurated before prosperity can be insured, according to William E. Sweet, former governor of Colorado.

He declared in an address here that the basic objective of the recovery administration was to give the consumer a fuller share of the wealth produced by the machines he operates.

Bullet-Torn Picture Book Recalls Old Indian Warfare

(International News Service)

NEW YORK.—An echo of the days when war-thirsty Indians made life precarious for the courageous settlers of the Northwest has reached the American Museum of Natural History here in the form of a bullet-punctured volume of drawings made in 1878.

The drawings are done in pencil and red, white, yellow and green crayons and tell in picture form the contest between the Indian and the white man, particularly the famous march of the Northern Cheyenne from the Indian Territory into Wyoming in the late seventies.

The volume was presented to the museum by Joseph Cuyler Hardie and was, in turn, given to him in 1889 by Lieutenant Colonel Francis Hunter Hardie who saw service in the Indian wars.

The story of the book and how it came into his possession is told by Colonel Hardie in a note attached to the volume and addressed to Mr. Joseph Hardie, under date of September 21, 1889, at the "Post of San Antonio, Texas." The letter reads in part:

"The book or rather the pictures, were drawn by a Northern Cheyenne Indian while in confinement at Fort Robinson, Nebraska during the winter of '78, '79. I was the post adjutant. I endeavored to get the book but its owner and maker refused to part with it for any price. So I gave the matter up then but got it later during an outbreak of the Cheyennes. Four troops of the 3rd cavalry surrounded the hostiles and charged upon them, killing all the bucks and unfortunately in the melee, some women and children, but previous to the charge I saw an Indian with the book pressed down between his naked skin and a strap around his waist, middle of the book and around his shoulder.

"I turned to Private Laselle of "H" troop who was near me and said: "I want that book if we come out all right." When the fight was over, and as the dead Indians were being pulled out of the rifle pit, they drew out finally, my Indian with the book, apparently dead. The book was injured to the extent of a carbine ball through it and was more or less covered with fresh blood. This fight was the closing one of a series of fights with the Indians, and they perished to a man.

In haste,
FRANK."

Smuggling Still Cause Of Concern

Government Still Worried By Rum Smuggling Activity Despite Prohibition Repeal

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 4—Rum smuggling today was a source of increasing concern to the government.

Special investigators for Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau reported that while smuggling of liquor from foreign countries has not developed to the proportions of prohibition days a substantial quantity of illicit alcoholics was being brought into the country.

Coast guard authorities with more than 20,000 miles of coast line to guard, were helpless to combat the situation. The smuggling situation was becoming more and more of a problem with increasing amounts of liquor coming into the country.

Privately officials admitted the tax on liquor was so high that the smugglers still could ply a lucrative business with an advantage of $5 to $8 a case.

Public Debt Is Increased

Uncle Sam Starts Eleventh Month Of Fiscal Year 1934 With Deficit

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 4—Uncle Sam started the eleventh month of the 1934 fiscal year with a deficit of $3,341,315,967, the treasury announced Thursday.

This compared with an excess of expenditures over receipts of $2,599,851,988 the same day last year.

Receipts for the first ten months of the year amounted to $2,512,928,000, nearly half of which was made up of tobacco, liquor, manufacturers excise and other miscellaneous taxes. Receipts were about $900,000,000 greater than a year ago.

Expenditures Gain

Expenditures of $5,854,244,000 showed a gain of $1,600,000,000 over last year. Emergency expenditures totalled $3,254,646,000 as compared with $1,030,866,000 for the same ten months of last year. In the president's budget message to Congress expenditures for the year ending June 30 were estimated at ten and one-half billions. The deficit was estimated at more than nine billions. Owing to a slowing of the spending program, it appeared that government costs and the deficit would fall possibly two billion dollars under the estimate.

The public debt May 1 totalled $26,116,746,000, an increase of $3,578,000,000 in a year and compared to approximately $26,550,000,000 the peak debt of all time which was reached Aug. 31, 1919.

Myers' Report Shows Progress On Post Office

Federal Engineer's Figures Reveal Building 66.2 Percent Completed

Construction Engineer Miles E. Myers reported the construction work on New Castle new post office 66.2 per cent completed on May 1, 14.8 per cent behind the normal construction percentage of 81. The figures were given in the engineer's monthly report to Washington.

During A ril, all work resumed after a long shutdown, progress in percentage form was rated as 13.5 per cent.

"Satisfactory progress" is now being made, the report informed the federal department, and a force of 46 was reported to have been at work May 1. That force included two in the contractor's office, five in the supervisory office, 19 laborers and 20 mechanics.

Meyers reported that an additional payment of $34,876.50 for April was made to the general contract which totals $208,881.23.

Interest Is Cut On HOLC Bonds

Amendment Is Made To Act Last Week, Cutting Interest One Per Cent

Information has been received by Manager Don F. McGrew, of the Home Owners Loan Corporation here, to the effect that the HOLC act was amended last Saturday, reducing the interest on these bonds from four to three per cent. The amendment provides for guarantee both of interest and principal on the bond.

It also provides for signing of a new form by the applicant that the loan was in default prior to June 1933, if the default occurred since June 1, 1933, due to unemployment, or circumstances beyond the control of the applicant.

Reduction of the interest on the HOLC bonds was done so that other government issues would not be impaired through the higher rate which was formerly paid on these bonds.

These bonds mature in ten years and the interest is payable semi-annually in May and November.

Bare Fists End 50-Year Fight Of Two Miners

(International News Service)

NEWCASTLE, Eng.—A good old-fashioned bare fist fight is still the best way to vindicate honor and settle a quarrel, according to Ned Henderson, aged 80, and Nichol Morgan, aged 77, retired miners of Ryton, near Newcastle.

The two old men had a 50-year-old quarrel to settle, so selecting a nearby field as a rendevous they stripped to the waist and set-to to end their dispute before a crowd of supporters.

For more than fifteen minutes Henderson and Morgan hammered each other with time-worn horned and gnarled fists, raining blows from all angles.

At last, Morgan, the "younger" fighter floored his opponent with a mighty swing. Henderson failed to rise, and Morgan was acclaimed the winner.

Asked after the fight what the quarrell was about, neither Henderson nor Morgan could recall the actual cause, but stated that they had quarreled and it had to be settled despite the passage of time.

His Boy Dying, Clown Upholds Stage Tradition

(International News Service)

LONDON.—The tradition of the clown who goes on clowning although his heart is breaking is the most hallowed of stage traditions.

Owen Beddoe, of Cwmaman, in Glamorgan county, is the comedian of a vaudeville troupe who tour welfare halls and institutes throughout South Wales.

The troupe had a favorite act. The old act. The clown who learns that his child is dying yet is still a jester, jesting to hide his sorrow and to amuse those who paid their fee.

When his troupe was at Beddau Welfare Hall a telegram was handed to the comedian. He must return home at once; his 14-year-old son, Trevor, was seriously ill.

So Owen Beddoe played his part. And when his act was over he hurried to his home and sat beside Trevor's bedside till the boy died.

Few Killers Break Down At Verdict

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 4.—Few convicted killers break down when the jury's verdict seals their doom, according to Harry Beaston, who for 25 years has been a court crier in the quarter sessions court.

"I must have seen 300 murder trials in my time and in that time I have witnessed the collapse of only one man, a wife-killer," Beaston said.

Actress Silent On Reports Of Re-Marriage

Katharine Hepburn, Back In New York Non-Committal Of Hayward Reports

LELAND HAYWARD

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 4.—Katharine Hepburn, the spectacular young star of the screen, was hidden away somewhere in New York today and the mystery surrounding her martial affairs remains as dark as ever.

She returned to the metropolis last night after a trip from Merida, Yucatan, where she secretly divorced Ludlow Ogden Smith, a New York and Philadelphia broker.

"Miss Hepburn, are you going to marry Leland Haymard?" she was asked. Hayward, her manager, was mentioned in Hollywood dispatches yesterday as likely to become her next husband.

She refused to answer, so the reporter put it this way:

"Will you deny you are going to marry Hayward?"

First she smiled, then she frowned and finally she stamped her foot.

"You can ask all the questions you want to about my divorce and Mr. Hayward," she said at length. "I shall not answer them. Do you realize the position you are putting me in?"

Dinsmore's Address Before Y's Men Here Reviews Bank Story

United States banking from the early days to the present was reviewed by Harry C. Dinsmore, assistant cashier of the Citizens National bank, before the Y's Men's club at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

In attendance at the dinner-meeting of the club was Chester A. Potts, Youngstown, international director of the Y's Men's organization. He urged a delegation to attend a regional convention at Columbus on May 19. Potts was accompanied by Dr. H. F. Campbell, also of Youngstown.

Cost Of Living Has Doubled In China

(International News Service)

PEIPING, China.—An appropriate index of the rise in cost of living for Americans and Europeans in Shanghai, made by an English journal, reveals interesting data.

Occidental clothing of all categories has risen fifty per cent in cost. Toilet accessories are up 120 per cent. General living expenses, including transportation, club subscriptions, servants' wages, food and drinks and sundry household items, have mounted to 150 per cent for foreigners in China.

The survey makes the estimate that a married American or European with an annual salary of eight hundred silver dollars ten years ago was better off than a similar one today with anything up to twice that income.

Unearth Ruins Of Old Temple In Jerusalem

PHILADELPHIA.—Deep under the debris of centuries, the ruins of the Temple of the Dagon have been unncovered by archeologists of the University of Pennsylania Museum.

Begun in 1921, on the hill of Beisan which lies 90 miles north of Jerusalem, these excavations are expected to continue another ten years before the archeological resources are exhausted.

James C. Muir of the U. of P. Museum, says these excavations are bringing to light a great mass of evidence confirming the Scriptures.

When Saul fell upon his sword on the slopes of Mount Gilboa, the Phillistines cut off his head, and, says the First Book of Chronicles, "they fastened his head in the Temple of Dagon."

This is the first time, according to Muir, that a temple definitely mentioned in the Old Testament has been uncovered.

Marshall Cabin May Be Made National Shrine

Man Who Discovered Gold In California In 1848 Is Remembered

(International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, Cal. — Preservation of the decaying cabin in El Dorado county where old Jim Marshall lived when he discovered gold in California in 1848, as a state and national shrine. was demanded here by legislators and historians.

Assemblyman Jesse M. Mayo of El Dorado county announced plans to introduce a bill at the next session of the legislature for financial aid in restoring the cabin and also to offer a resolution memorializing Congress to make Coloma a national shrine with complete restoration of all buildings of historical importance.

Historians and state officials offered support in the proposal to restore the cabin and designate its historical significance on a permanent basis.

Assemblyman Mayo reported that the cabin is in a deplorable condition as a result of decay and acts of vandalism.

"Marshall's cabin and Coloma should be a state and national shrine," Mayo declared. "California owes its very life and greatness to the discovery of gold at Coloma and to Marshall. The United States probably owes as much to this historic spot, for it was the gold that came from the mines of California after the discovery that possibly preserved the credit of the union and thus saved the country from being divided into separate nations.

May Admit Boys To Girl's School

(International News Service)

LANCASTER, Pa., May 4.—Trustees of Shippin school, local institution for girls for many years, are considering a co-educational plan for the school. Boys would be admitted next year for the first three grades under the proposal.

Farmers Enriched Twelve Millions By Spring Tapping Of Maple Trees

(International News Service)

MONTREAL, Quebec.—The mild, sunny days of late March and early April are worth some $12,000,000 annually to the farmers of southwestern Quebec and Vermont. It is this weather which brings the flow of sap into sugar maples and pours money into the pockets of the farmers who are owners of groves.

The output of maple products averages around 28,000 tons annually. Of this slightly more than half is produced in Vermont and the balance mostly in Quebec. In Canada the production averages about $6,000,000 in value of which $4,000,000 is in maple syrup and the balance in sugar. It is slightly higher in Vermont.

This tapping of maple trees goes back to the Indian days on the eastern seaboard and while little appears in history about their method of extracting the sap and rendering it into syrup and sugar, references are found to the tribal dances, which were held in the spring. It was not until 1685 that the maple syrup industry began to receive prominence in the reports of the governors of New France.

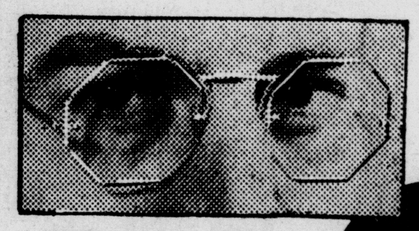

Toward the end of the 18th century the industry gained recognition as a commercial venture of some magnitude. Much of the advancement has been attributed to the inventions of Oran Cummings of Montpelier, Vt., who devised methods for hanging buckets from the spouts, designed covered gathering tanks, flat pans and other untensils that made refining simple and profitable.

Although sugar and syrup making are still carried on in a more or less crude way in some sections, there are also a number of refineries using high-speed scientific machinery for the purpose.

Correct this sentence: "My vote is never influenced," said the congressman, "by the social ambitions of my wife."

A fisher girls' choir sang at a religious service held beside Girdleness Lighthouse, near Aberdeen, Scotland, to celebrate the lighthouse's centenary.

Donnelly Denies Taking Part In Lindbergh Case

Alleged International Swindler Of Indianapolis Wants To Be Questioned

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 4.—"I want to be questioned immediately about the Lindbergh ransom money," declared Stewart Donnelly, alleged international swindler of Indianapolis, held in New York today for swindles totaling $100,000 here and in four other states.

"I had nothing to do with the money or with anyone connected with the case," he said when brought from Paris on the United States liner Washington by two New York detectives. "I'm too smart to go in for that kind of thing."

Expressing contempt for victims of swindlers he declared:

"They have as much larceny in them as the swindler. They go into the deal expecting to make something for nothing."

Anniversary For Dr. McClure

Daring Bandits Hold Up Truck Of Candy

Kidnap Driver While Truck Is Driven Away With $1,155 Cargo

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 4.—Three armed bandits hi-jacked a truck load of candy and tobacco, valued at $1,155, on the Youngstown-Hubbard road, a few miles north of here, shortly before noon.

One of the bandits shoved Mrs. Katherine Law of Meadville, Pa., out of the truck after threatening to kill her.

Mrs. Law had been here to get stock for the K & L Candy company of Meadville, in which she is a partner. Willard Nelson, driver for the company, was at the wheel as they started back toward Meadville.

A few miles north of the city limits, a sedan forced the truck off the road and a gunman ordered Nelson off the truck.

Two bandits took Nelson with them in their car and drove off, leaving the third to take the truck. Mrs. Law refused to get out, but the gunman told her: "If you don't get out I'll kill you."

As she moved to get out, he pushed her into the ditch and drove off.

Nelson was put out of the car near Brookfield, unhurt.

System Established By NRA May Continue Indefinitely Though Present Set-Up Fades

NRA's difficulties are multiplying so rapidly that it is predicted it can't last long.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May. 4.—Is there a chance that NRA finally will shake down into a practicable industrial system?

Its difficulties are multiplying so rapidly that it is more generally predicted every day that it can't last long. And probably this is a safe forecast, as to the administration's present set-up. But even assuming that it is doomed to disintegration as a big bureau, may not the system it has been trying to establish "take" ultimately and continue indefinitely?

* * *

A year or two before the crash of 1929 I attended a U. S. Chamber of Commerce meeting at which one of the speakers (I don't recall which one, but he was a business man of considerable consequence) said in effect:

"Today's so-called prosperity can't last. It's a boom. It will burst presently. Unless we then meet the situation unitedly and understandingly, great disaster will follow. There must be no cutting of working forces; no slashing of wages. Such a cutting and slashing will be a tremendous temptation, but if we yield to it, it will prove to be the reverse of our salvation. A prolonged depression will be inevitable, and all that we have saved by our curtailments we shall have to pay out in taxes, to offset these curtailments' consequences."

These remarks were very well received, but, as we all know, when the explosion actually occurred, the curtailments did follow.

The individual who warned against them, as well as those who agreed with him, undoubtedly had to join in the retrenchments because others were retrenching. Organizations of industrial groups (maybe "guilds" is the word), to permit unity of effort and mutual helpfulness, and to deal with recalcitrants, were non-existent.

* * *

If NRA's mission is to create such a family of organizations, and if it succeeds in its mission, and if the organizations satisfactorily serve their purpose, may not NRA itself then evaporate, with an enormously valuable accomplishment to its credit?

The idea sounds all right in theory.

It is questionable how it is working out in practice.

Control of the organizations NRA is setting up falls quite naturally into the hands of the already-created industrial and trade associations, and it is recognized that these associations are dominated by big business, which is accused of having immediately shaped the various organizations' ends toward the extinction of little, independent business.

A deal of evidences tends to substantiate these charges.

* * *

Labor's perfectly proper claim for fair consideration further complicates the problem.

It, too, is entitled to organization in its bargaining with employers, and it reasonably may be said that the employers have no right to a voice in the character of organizations created by the workers—but there are differences of opinion among the workers themselves on this issue.

The A. F. of L. wants to speak exclusively for them, and there is no certainty that all the workers want it to do so. Some unions assuredly are downright hostile to it.

NRA isn't rolling out these conflicts very fast.

Still, maybe it has given rough form to a system that gradually will shape itself in detail.

Even so, as Senator Marvel M. Logan of Kentucky observes, it will not be a new system, but a return, somewhat modified to suit modern requirements, of the guilds of the middle ages—but if it works satisfactorily, no one will care whether it is new or borrowed, for present needs, out of past history.

3425 Farmers In State Sign To Cut Wheat

Booklet Tells About State's Official Tree

HARRISBURG—A new illustrated bulletin, "Hemlock—The State Tree of Pennsylivania" has been published by the Department of Forests and Waters, Harrisburg, and is available for free distribution.

The hemlock officially became the State Tree of Pennsylvania by an act of Legislature approved by Governor Pinchot in 1931.

Written by Henry E. Clepper assistant chief of the Division of Research and Information the bulletin describes the growth and habitat of the hemlock, its botanical and physical characteristics and products.

Few virgin stands of timber remain in Pennsylvania, but those that have escaped the lumberman's ax consists largely of hemlock. Some of them in various parts of the State are upwards of 300 years old, 100 feet tall and five feet in diameter. However, trees this size, which are capable of yielding 5000 board feet o. lumber are rare.

Approximately 100,000 hemlocks transplants will be planted in the State forests during 1934. Because of the difficulty or raising hemlocks from seed and transplanting hem, they have not been used as extensively for reforestation purposes as some of the pines, spruces and larches which are more adaptable conifers.

Some of the largest individual hemlock trees now growing under forest conditions in the State are in Cook Forest Park in Jefferson county, the Snyder-Middleswarth State Forest monument in Synder county, the Hemlock State Park in Perry county and the Allegheny National Forest in Warren county.

If you are troubled with chapped hands, try this: Get some mutton tallow from your butcher, render it and put in a jar. Apply a little to the hands every day.

How Business Sees New Deal

Variety Of Opinions By Business Men At National Sessions

FAIR COMPETITION PLANS APPROVED

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The moguls of American business, as represented by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, have had the NRA, the AAA and the new deal in general under the microscope for two days now, and they haven't been able to agree on a diagnosis as to whether it is good or bad.

A survey of the dozens of speeches made by business leaders before the chamber's annual convention here reveals widely varying and conflicting opinion as to whether the NRA has helped or hurt business, whether the AAA has worked or is workable, and whether the various recovery acts should be continued on a permanent or semi-permanent basis.

For example:

Henry I. Harriman, president of the chamber, who cheerfully admits that the NRA was the product of the chamber itself rather than a child of the professorial brain trust, believes the NRA has been enormously beneficial to general business.

"The law has done much good," he said, adding that his conclusion is concurred in by most business men.

Vigorous Dissent.

A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board of the powerful Westinghouse Electric Co., entered a vigorous dissent.

"The treatment ailing business is receiving," he said, "reminds one of the patient who was purged, and when I say purged I mean purged, bled white with leeches at both wrist and temples, fed a powder of dried brains—and yet, said the old account, he died."

Between these extremes apparently lies the main body of business opinion which is favorably inclined to most aspects of the new deal, but severely critical of certain phases of it.

Approve Fair Competition.

Nearly all the business leaders approve of that part of NRA which established codes of fair competition and wiped out the dog-eat-dog competition of the depression period, with its price-cutting, and other fiercely competitive features. But at the same time they appear fearful of long-continued government direction and control of business. They feel now that business is getting to its feet again, the government should relax rather than increase its grip upon business and industry.

Most of the business leaders' fire is centered not so much upon NRA and AAA as upon two pieces of legislation pending in congress—the stock exchange regulatory act and the securities act, which is up for revision.

Battle Securities Act.

The existing securities act, they contend, is stifling in its effect upon new financing and the expansion of industry. The stock exchange bill, they assert, is a companion piece to the securities act in that it will restrict trading and interrupt the normal flow of business generally.

There is a wide difference of opinion between the chamber's leaders and the leaders of the American Federation of Labor as to the exact unemployment situation.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, estimated this week that at the peak of the depression—that is, in March of 1933—there were approximately 13,000,000 unemployed. Some 3,000,000 of those have been restored to payrolls through the NRA and the natural force of the recovery movement, Green estimated, but this still leaves appoximately 10,000,000 still jobless.

President Harriman of the chamber presented entirely different figures. He agreed with Green that the peak of the depression there were some 13,000,000 jobless, but he asserted that "today it is not even 7,000,000." And, he added, when there is subtracted from the 7,000,000 figure that 3,000,000 that are normally unemployed in this country, it leaves but 4,000,000 workless due to the depression.

Sophie Tucker Has Argument

Sophie Tucker Plans To Appear Before King And Queen In Performance

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 4.—Sophie Tucker says she is going to appear before the King and Queen of England.

The manager of a west end theatre says she isn't.

In that situation today British court and theatrical circles found material for a sprightly controversy—one that promised to get sprightlier and cause quite a ripple in London's wonted placidity.

Just in case there are those who do not know, Sophie Tucker is an American vaudeville actress and singer whose performances have seldom lacked what it takes to tickle the fancy of the more broad-minded theatrical audiences.

Sophie Determined

Theatrical papers announced Sophie had been invited to appear before the King and Queen at an annual royal command performance in a west end vaudeville theatre.

International News Service sought out Sophie to learn if the statement was true.

"Sure, it's true," the buxom Sophie replied. "I've been invited and I'm going to do a serious dramatic number. Oh, no, nothing rowdy—nothing at all like that."

Then the manager of the theatre horned in. He announced Sophie had not been invited.

That rather non-plussed Miss Tucker for a minute but she rallied.

"I don't care what the manager says, "she declared. "I'm going to appear."

Eisenberg Will Address Meeting

Association Will Meet This Evening To Discuss Subject At Slippery Rock

(Special To The News)

SLIPPERY ROCK, May 4—Dr. J. Linwood Eisenberg, president of the Slippery Rock State Teachers College, will speak at the meeting of the Mathematics Association of the Western District of the Pennsylvania State Education Association which will take place here at 6:30 o'clock this evening. Dr. Arnold Dresden professor of mathematics at Swarthmore College and president of the Mathematics Association of America, will also give an address.

To "sell" the field of mathematics to curriculum builders, administrators, and students is one of the chief tasks of teachers of the subject, according to Dr. Eisenberg. He also believes that mathematics teachers can develop in students the habit of accuracy as well as to give them a fine sense of mastery. He advocates that no essential materials be eliminated from the subject but suggests that the teachers vitalize their methods through drill, developing a special mathematic vocabulary, and providing work which will utilize the skills already learned.

Grand Jury To Hear Bremer

(International News Service)

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 4.—Edward G. Bremer, wealthy banker who was kidnaped January 18 for $200,000 ransom, will appear before the federal grand jury together with other witnesses.

The grand jury was summoned by federal judge M. M. Joyce to consider indictments against John J. (Boss) McLaughlin, Chicago politican; his son, John Jr.; William Vidler and Phillip Delany, all of whom are being held by department of justice operatives in Chicago for removal here.

Meanwhile preparations were under way to bring Evelyn Frechette, sweetheart of desperado John Dillinger to an early trial. She entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned before judge Joyce yesterday on a charge of haboring a fugitive bank robber and killer. Bail was set at $60,000.

Anglo-Japanese Trade War Nears

New Trade Agreement Between Japan And Great Britain Has Slight Chance Of Success

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 4.—An Anglo-Japanese trade war of world-wide proportions was forseen as negotiations for a new trade agreement between Great Britain and Japan appeared to have slight chance of being successfully concluded.

Walter Runciman, president of the British board of trade, and Tsuneo Matsudaira, the Japanese ambassador, conferred today. Runciman is understood to have informed Matsudaria of the possibility that Great Britain will impose quota restrictions on Japanese shipments to British territory unless the Japanese modify their attitude.

Hitch-Hiker Pulls Gun On Driver Who Had Given Him Lift

Danger of picking up hitch-hikers is illustrated in the case of William Haid, insurance adjuster of Pittsburgh, who picked up a hitch-hiker on the Perry highway, while enroute to Sharon. After the hitch-hiker had ridden several miles he suddenly pulled out a .45 calibre revolver and ordered Haid to pull over to the side of the road. Haid complied, but as he pulled to a stop, he knocked the youth's gun hand aside, and the gun fell to the floor of the car.

In the struggle for possession Haid sustained cuts on his right hand. Haid managed to open the door of the car and leaped to the highway. When he alighted, the hitch-hiker, frightened by approaching traffic, grabbed his gun and fled into a woods.

Cramer's Store Opens Saturday

Cramer's Clothing Store Now Located At 107 East Washington Street

One of the finest clothing stores in New Castle will swing open its doors to the public on Saturday morning at 9:00 o'clock when Cramer's Clothing Company opens its news store at 107 East Washington street, next to the First National Bank.

With larger quarters, it will be possible to give the public much better service. The size of the new store also makes it possible to carry a much larger selection of the newest patterns and styles in men's suits, it was announced, by H. B. Cramer of Pittsburgh, president of the company, who personally supervised the remodeling of the new store.

Mr. Cramer stated that Cramer clothes are manufactured on the company's own premises in New York, thus enabling the organization to sell at a much lower figure than would ordinarily be the case. The New Castle store is one of the finest the company has in this district, Mr. Cramer stated.

The store will be managed by Edward T. Cramer who has been at the head of the company store here for the past three years. Mr. Cramer will personally give attention to all old patrons and invites the public in general to visit the new store. Raymary Peluso, of this city, will be in charge of the fitting room. Cramer's store was previously located at 16 South Mercer street.

Street Materials To Be Procured

When council convened in the City building Thursday ordinances providing for the purchase of 10,000 tons more or less of surfacing material and payment during the next two years for the material were submitted by Streets Director Butler to committee, reported back favorably and the city clerk authorized to request bids for the furnishing of the material.

Under the plan of council, should the ordinances be adopted, the streets department will do repaving in certain streets and alleys. The work will be done by property owners. They will be paid one-half their wages in cash and the other half will be applied on their taxes, according to the provisions of the ordinances.

We have suffered lightly, if we have suffered what we should weep for.—Seneca.

FIVE YEARS OF CATARRH QUICKLY RELIEVED

There Are Numerous Cases To Be Cited But Here Is One That Will Interest All Sufferers From Catarrh, No Matter How Long They May Have Suffered

Many people have catarrh and do not know it—they do not realize that their constant headaches, or their wretched stomach condition or their sore kidneys, or pain in the region of the bladder are just symptoms of the presence of the insidious and poisonous catarrh.

This young man says that he suffered with stomach trouble for five years and thought he had dyspepsia. He says, "I guess now there is no doubt that all my suffering was due to catarrh of the stomach. Food was like a lump of lead in my stomach for years. I was always belching gas after eating; my heart fluttered. I was short of breath, and was greatly constipated most of the time. The different medicines I took did me no good until I tried World's Tonic, and I feel better right now than I have for months and the symptoms that so distressed me for years are passing away—they bother me very little now and I am sure that in a few weeks more I will be O. K." Frank Dovalil, New Castle, Pa.

This case should be a lesson to all the people inthis vicinity who suffer from stomach trouble. For sale at Eckerd's, Paisley's, Smith's and all other good drug stores. (A-104)

Educators See Pageant Here

Outside Schools Send Representatives To Watch Presentation By Pupils

Educators from other cities were attracted to New Castle Thursday night when the second presentation of the educational pageant was given in the Cathedral auditorium. From Clarion State Teachers college there was a delegation of 12, headed by Miss Bertha Nair, head of the English department. The Aliquippa schools were represented by Miss Edith Dewhirst and a delegation from Slippery Rock State Teachers college was present.

"The visitors were delighted with the pageant," said Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools, today. "Both performances were a source of satisfaction to me and I believe the people of New Castle have a better appreciation of what the schools of New Castle are doing. The pageant was a very definite example of what can be done through the coordination of teachers and pupils and in my opinion it was the best piece of work done by the schools here in many years."

One feature of the two performances which impressed Dr. Green was that not one of the 1000 children appearing in the pageant were injured in any way. Youngsters from six to 16 were in the cast and the job of caring for them before their time on the stage was one that kept a corps of teachers busy. The fact that there was not the slightest injury is an evidence of the care exercised.

Nab Youths In Blackmail Plot

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

PARAGON, Ind., May 4.—Two youths were nabbed six miles south of here today in connection with an attempt to blackmail a wealthy Indianapolis business man out of $25,000.

The youths arrested were Carlos McNeil, 26-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. McNeil of this town, a student at Indiana university, and James Woods, 23-year-old son of B. W. Woods, the town blacksmith.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 4.— The Norwegian motorship Childar, heavily loaded and carrying a crew of about 30 officers and men, flashed out an SOS today after going ashore on the north spit at the mouth of the Columbia river, according to word received here by the Merchants Exchange.

Louisiana's sugar industry represents an investment of about a quarter-billion.

Examinations For Liquor Store Jobs Will End June 16

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 4.—Competitive examinations for jobs under the liquor control board need not be held after June 16, 1934, except to fill vacancies, under a Department of Justice ruling today.

The liquor control law provides that civil service lists be scrapped every six months and new examinations be held to fill vacancies. The Department of Public Instruction, which conducts the examinations, asked whether tests must be held every six months for all classifications of jobs and the ruling held that this was not necessary except where vacancies occur.

Youth Suffers Rare Disease

California Youth Must Not Be Allowed To Play In Sun, Will Blister

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.— The sunshine of spring spells nothing but pain for little Eugene Bennett, 5, of Jackson, who is a patient at Childrens' hospital here.

When sunny days come, little Eugene must be confined to a shaded hospital ward. When he goes outdoors, his hands and face must be covered with heavy cotton pads.

He is suffering from a rare disease—hydroa aestivale—in which the sun's rays act on his skin much as they do on a photographic plate. The sun breaks down the hemoglobin of his blood. If he is "overexposed," large blisters break out over his skin, with deep ulceration.

Doctors are endeavoring to "desensitize" his skin by the administration of resorcin in small doses to thicken the outer layer of skin.

Anglo-Japan Trade War Is Step Nearer

Quota Restrictions For Importation Of Japanese Goods Into Empire Are Set

AWAIT REPLY TO CABLED DECISION

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 4.—Bringing closer to a head the threatened bitter trade war with Japan, Great Britain today announced that quota restrictions for the importation of Japanese goods into various parts of the British colonial empire are being set and will be announced next week, unless there is some sudden change of front on the part of the Japanese to break the deadlock on a new trade agreement.

Not expecting a satisfactory move on the part of the Japanese following his conference with Japanese Ambassador Tsuneo Matsudaira, Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, today completed arrangements to promulgate relations for discriminatory duties on Japanese goods.

The various colonial administrations have been advised privately as to what may be expected, so that the restrictions may be clamped on immediately the trade treaty expires May 16.

In the meantime, Ambassador Matsudaira is awaiting a reply from Tokyo to his cabled report regarding the British decision.

In some government quarters there is a fear that Japan will counteract the British quota restrictions by striking back at the dominions economically.

Domestic Troubles Are Before Court

Judges R. L. Hildebrand And James A. Chambers Hear Divorce Cases

Aside from principals and witnesses very few persons attended divorce court which is being held before Judges R. L. Hildebrand and James E. Chambers today.

Desertion and cruelty were the grounds upon which most of the cases were brought, and there was considerable sameness about the testimony. In the desertion cases the applicants told when they were married, gave a brief history of their married life, and detailed the causes which led to a separation.

In cases where cruelty were charged, the libellants recounted the acts of cruelty, which had resulted in domestic unhappiness. In some cases blows had been struck, while in others harsh words, and general neglect figured. In the first case which was taken up before Judge Hildebrand, that of Howard McWhorter, colored, against his wife, Elizabeth McWhorter, Mr. McWhorter blamed their domestic troubles on liquor.

Other cases scheduled before Judge Hildebrand were William H. Earl against Little M. Earl: Elizabeth Moore against James Moore; Grace F. Carter against Clifford R. Carter; Edward Cross against Mildred Cross Lydia Rohne against Peter Rohne; Mary Diklich against Mike Diklich; Rose Goli against Frank Goli; Jas. Barber against Josephine Barber; Elizabeth Graham against Hugh Graham; Gertrude Ridenbaugh against Joseph A. Ridenbaugh.

The case of Marion I. Teets against Elmer N. Teets, which was scheduled before Judge James A. Chambers, was continued, also the case of Ethel Stonemetz against Fred O. Stonemetz. Other cases on the list were Gladys Kissman against Herbert Kissman; Edward Young against Freda Young; John Weber against Nellie Weber; Lillian Dugan against Leo W. Dugan; Lester Jackson against Myrtle Jackson; Chas. E. Mehard against Viola Mehard, Cleo Anne Tintsman against Edwin S. Tintsman, Edw. Heckart against Artie May Heckart; Alice McCabe against John McCabe, Margaret Grantz against John Grantz. Opinions on the cases will be handed down later.

Beer Drinking Steadily Wanes Among Germans

(International News Service)

BERLIN, May 4.—Are the Germans, descendants of the beer-loving Teutons, getting soberer?

Statistics seem to prove it, for the consumption of beer and hard liquor has decreased appallingly, compared to pre-war times.

In the good old days of 1931 Germans, on an average, drank 102 liters of beer annually per capita and 2.8 liters of hard liquors. In the drier Germany of today only 51.3 liters per capita are consumed annually and only 0.16 liters of hard liquor.

In the years 1913-14 Germany drank 68.8 million hectoliters of beer and 187 million liters of Schnaps or hard liquor during 1912-13. In 1932-33 only 33.3 million hectoliters ran down the throats of thirsty Germans and hard liquor consumption sank to 39 million liters a year.

To some extent the decrease in exports is responsible for the general decline of the beer and liquor curves, but undoubtedly the Germans have become a soberer nation, mostly on account of the economic crisis.

Hospital Aide Society Will Ask You To Join

When we speak of Jameson Memorial Hospital's linen supply we do not mean gauze goods which are used in dressings, bandages and the like. The hospital supplies itself with these necessities. And when we speak of the Wednesday morning sewing we do not mean that we just get together around piles of cut gauze and fold sponges the way some of us did during the war.

Our hospital during the first four months of 1934 used 8000 yards of gauze in factory made gauze goods and in addition 71,000 gauze sponges. The sponges alone would have taken 10 nimble fingered women working 8 hours a day not less than four weeks at six days a week to do the folding. Sponges are factory made.

Our work has to do with supply of some fifty odd items of linen supply that is laundered and reused. Among these items there are some that even the patient hardly gains acquaintance with. Take the item of pack cases. These are double thickness squares of unbleached muslin stitched, flat on three sides and folded on the fourth. On the average about 1000 of these are required annually in various sizes up to about 5 ft. square. They are used to wrap up supplies and utensils for sterilization under heavy steam pressure. Such pack case wrappings are not removed until the contents are to be used. Nothing about use of a pack case will wear it out but repeated steam sterilization destroys it in a hurry—hence an annual requirement. To minimize this requirement the hospital employs a system of metal drum containers in which to sterilize certain supplies capable of handling in that manner.

Our work is useful hand endeavor with materials of our own purchase to meet a definite need without waste. You are going to be asked to join us unless we slip up somewhere in our canvass. If you should escape us why not call up the hospital—telephone 6000. Just leave the message that you have been missed. We'll do the rest.

Motor Highway To Cost $800,000 Will Aid New England Vacationists

(International News Service)

NEWBURYPORT, Mass.—Quaint old Newburyport, for more than two centuries content to drift along in a peaceful existence as a shipping port, changed little by the modern trend, must at last give way to progress.

Through the heart of the city is to be built a new $800,000 highway. To make room for the new project, a total of 56 buildings must be razed, many of which overlooked the harbor a century ago when African trading vessels sailed out of the port on their voyages to the tropics.

The expense of constructing the new highway will be borne by the Federal Government, and the state will pay the property damages. The State Department of Public Works, which is supervising the construction, hopes to have it completed by next December.

Thousands of automobiles from virtually every state in the union travel through Newburyport every year, enroute to New Hampshire and Maine vacation centers.

The next project to be undertaken will be the building of a new $1,000,000 bridge across the Merrimack river here.

Firemen Rescue Pigeon Tied To Tree

(International News Service)

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 4.—A hook and ladder fire crew from the West End played a new role here when they spent considerable time and some of the city's gasoline money in rescuing a pigeon caught in a tree.

Appearing without the usual blare of siren, the truck stopped beside a tree while the fire laddies proceeded to hoist a ladder. Caught in the topmost limb was a pigeon, hanging head down by a string tied to one leg.

The rescuers performed a major operation on the branch and caught the bird as it fell within their reach from the ladder. They took off the string, tucked the worn-out pigeon under an arm and gave it a ride back to the fire station in state.

Describe Collegian As 'Big Lovable Baby'

(International News Service)

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 4.—The most satisfactory explanation for collegiate neckties, goalpost rushes and other student escapades has been offered by the debating team of Pembroke Women's college with delicate feminine sarcasm in the statement that "the average everyday sort of college man is just a big, lovable baby."

The fair orators also said:

"We college women must bear with him (meaning Joe College) in his idiosyncrasies."

The coeds set forth these opinions in their debate with a Brown University speaking team. The women won.

Loud boos greeted the Brown debater who said "the world would be better off without any women whatsoever."

Senior High School News

School's New Slogan Revealed In Assembly; Ends Lengthy Suspense

'Do Or Die For Ne-Ca-Hi' Judged As Best Of Group Offered

WINNING AUTHORS GET GRID TICKETS

Thursday's chapel program at the senior high school broke the suspense which arose among the students when the school-wide slogan competition was launched several weeks ago. Slogans were submitted some time ago, but not until yesterday was any announcement made of prize winners.

Ralph Davies gave a brief explanation of the program and then the slogan-winning fifth place, "Unity is always the winner," was illustrated by a band selection. Dan Di Thomas then came forward and received his prize.

The next winning slogan, "Ne-Ca-Hi sets the standard," was portrayed by several exhibitions of high jumping. The prize for this slogan was awarded to Lillian Rumstay.

When the curtain was next drawn it revealed a group of Hi-Y boys who sang the Alma Mater. After a cheer, the audience joined with the boys in singing "On to the Fight". The third prize winner was Lorraine Hook, whose slogan was "We love the name, and shout acclaim to Ne-Ca-Hi".

A tug of war then took place to show that "Divided, nothing can be done; United, the fight is won". This slogan was submitted by Nick Joseph.

The final scene was laid in a court room where the prisoner on trial declared that he would "Do or die for Ne-Ca-Hi". Three students, Richard Gregor, Blanche Brown and Jane Berthold, each submitted the slogan winning first prize and so each one received a season ticket for the football games.

The prizes were presented by Ralph Davies, who, assisted by Virginia Cook and Edythe Cowden, arranged the program. Those who took part in dramatizing the slogans were:

Gerald George, Manuel Kakos, John Thomas, Bill Barbarowitz, George Benscoter, Joe Armond, Bill Cleland, Lester Grim, Wallace Byers, Abe Graham, Charles Dinsmore, Vernon Hayward, James Dart, Numzio Fialo, Albert Beres, Howard Updegraff, Tom Twaddle, James Donnelly, Ernest Royal, Nick Casper, Herman Kitchen, David Rowland, Larry Ross, Harry McClellan, Frank Hamilton, Loyal Kerr, Frank Humphries and the Hi-Y boys.

MISS JOHN WINS $5

Word has reached the high school that Miss Burdeen John, an honor student and news reporter of the senior A group has been awarded the fourth prize, consisting of $5, for her contributions to the school reporters' contest sponsored by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' association of Pennsylvania State college. This award is a real honor as students from all over the state of Pennsylvania were competing in the contest. She wrote for The News.

COUNTY STUDENTS TAKE QUIZ

The library of the high school is not open to the student body today due to the fact that 46 students from high schools of the county are taking the state scholarship examination. The examination began at 8 o'clock this morning and will continue until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

LUNCHEON HAILS SPRING

A delightful luncheon heralding spring was served on Wednesday by the girls of the home economics department. The colors were yellow and green and were carried out to the smallest detail. Mary Zdwuenick and Betty Hickling were in charge of the luncheon, performing their duties very capably.

Recently the girls were divided into three groups, each of which prepared a meal. Breakfast, luncheon and dinner served. The object was to see if delicious meals could be prepared at a low cost. The trial was very successful.

LATIN TOURNEY SATURDAY

The Senatus Romanus, in a meeting held Wednesday, May 2, discussed last minute plans for the Latin tournament to be held tomorrow at the senior high school. At this time about 40 students will compete and the winners of the three prizes offered will be awarded medals and membership in the Senatus Romanus.

HI-YERS ENJOY TRIP

The Hi-Y held its weekly meeting on Monday evening of this week. After the usual initial procedure, the president opened the discussion concerning a conference held at Slippery Rock on Thursday evening of this week.

The conference was composed of both girls and boys. The representatives from New Castle numbered about 20. At the conference the boys were busy every minute. Some of the activities performed at the conference were: Swimming, banquets, social and religious discussions, speeches and last of all a dance sponsored by the Tri-Hi-Y clubs.

NOT ENTERING CONTEST

A decision against sending the senior high school's state music contest winners on to national competition has been made at the school by Principal F. L. Orth and Music Director J. F. Replogle.

The school was represented by several who won first places at Johnstown last week.

TO TALK COMMENCEMENT

Commencement affairs will be discussed by Principal Orth and members of the senior A class at a special meeting of the senior class on Monday, May 7.

Baccalaureate exercises for the class will be held June 3 and the commencement on June 5.

PRAISE BAND'S CONDUCT

The office of the high school received a letter Tuesday of this week from the principal of Cochran junior high school of Johnstown, thanking Mr. Orth and all members of the musical organizations for the very courteous way the students conducted themselves in Cochran junior high school during the recent state contest. The office, faculty and students are very well pleased to hear that our students conducted themselves in such a manner as to receive special commendation.

Young Buyny is now on his way to the Naval Training Station, Hampton Roads, Va., where he will undergo his twelve weeks' training prior to being assigned to sea duty. Prison 'Pay-Off' Racket Involved Tobacco Payments

(International News Service)

TOPEKA, Kas.—A "pay-off system" among the inmates of the Kansas State penitentiary at Lansing has been broken up, according to a report by the state board of administration to Gov. Alf. Landon.

Working with the assistance of Warden Lacey M. Simpson the board reported heretofore unknown rackets among the convicts. The report stated that virtually every convict in the prison had to kick-in through a pay-off system before he could have any of his rights.

In one instance, the report stated, a convict was being questioned by a guard why only one side of his face had been shaved. Hours of severe grilling failed to give any information until he was "put in the hole." He then revealed that he did not have enough tobacco to pay for the full shave, and as a result the convict barber shaved only the one side.

Tobacco being the principal medium of exchange at the prison, it was "just too bad" for the poor convict who had none.

There was one time, according to the report, that a prisoner could not obtain enough food at the table from the convict waiters unless he paid off.

When a certain convict convicted for violation of the state's blue sky laws asked for permission to work in the prison mines, amazed officials readily consented. It was some time before his real reason for wanting such an assignment was discovered.

All convict miners are required to mine nine tons of coal a week and are allowed cash and "good time" for all the coal produced over the minimum. Mine officials and prison clerks wondered how the new convict mined so much coal over the best miner in the prison.

Investigation revealed he had been paying other prisoners with script he had obtained from the prisoners' fund for the coal they had mined.

Popularity Begins at Breakfast

Popular people are usually well people. They are the people who feel fine, who enjoy life, who see the bright side of things—and almost always you'll find that they are the people who eat right.

If you want to be popular, if you want to go places and do things, try Shredded Wheat with milk and fruit at least one meal a day.

Shredded Wheat is a most nourishing food—whole wheat, boiled and baked—in easily digested and delicious form. It contains the carbohydrates needed for energy; the proteins needed for tissue building; the mineral salts needed for bone structure; the vitamins that help you resist disease; and bran to keep you regular. Nature might have made a better food than wheat—but she didn't!

Shredded Wheat is mighty economical, too. Start it today and see if popularity doesn't depend on the way you feel!

Former Head Of Treasury Dies

Wm. W. Woodin Passes Away In Hospital In New York City

William H. Woodin
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 4—Death today had won its long fight with William H. Woodin, former head of the American Car and Foundry Company, who resigned as secretary of the treasury last January.

The cheerful little man, who was one of President Roosevelt's closest friends for many years, passed on in the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat hospital last night. Attending physicians attributed his passing to the effects of the throat infection with which he had been troubled for some time and which is said to have been the cause of his resignation from the cabinet.

Woodin would have been 66 years old on May 28.

The end came after ten hours of unconsciousness. For the greater part of this time, his wife and daughter sat at his bedside.

According to Dr. Robert E. Buckley, one of the physicians, Woodin engaged in delerious conversation during his last hours and apparently imagined himself conferring with the president in Washington.

Woodin retired formally as secretary of the treasury on January 1 last, although for some time before that date, ill health had compelled him to relegate much of his work to assistants.

Plant Millions Of Trees To Help Prevent Floods

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Millions of trees will be planted by Uncle Sam's youthful conservation corps workers in the Mississippi valley in a battle against soil erosion and floods.

Within the next few months small creeks in six states will have been dammed and thousands of trees set along their banks to curtail the erosion process which is gradually denuding thousands of acres of farm land and dumping rich soil into the Mississippi river to add to flood dangers.

Tress planted along the smaller streams will do much to conserve the surrounding soil and at the same time contribute to Mississippi river flood prevention, conservation corps directors say. It is the millions of tons of rich top soil which is washed into the Mississippi river every year which clogs the natural channels in the river bed and, when spring rains come, cause the father of rivers to overflow its banks.

In conjunction with the tree planting program, dams will be constructed in many of the streams. Most of these will be temporary structures of earth, logs or woven wire divice to check erosion until the trees have matured.

More than 100,000 of these tiny dams probably will be built.

Tree planting already is well under way in Illinois where more than 3,5000,000 black locust trees have been put into the earth. The work will spread to Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska and Arkansas.

Black locust trees are being used because they form thick-matted roots especially adapted to halting soil erosion. Besides, they mature quickly, generally in from five to seven years. In 15 years they can be cut down and used for fence posts.

DRUNK GETS LIMIT

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 4.—Because his wife apparently became disgusted with her church custodian-husband being drunk since Christmas, William Ament, 53, today was ordered to jail for 30 days or pay a $10 fine.

Magistrate J. W. McGowan was about to fine the man $10 or 10 days when the wife pleaded that he "get the limit".

STRIKE IS ENDED

(International News Service)

CAMDEN, N. J., May 4.—Ending a strike marked by many bitter clashes and a court battle over a labor injunction, more than 2,000 men, women and boys were treking back to the Campbell Soup Company plant here today to apply for reinstatement.

The walkout of more than a month was terminated late last night.

Selling Mother's Day Stamps Here

The New Castle post office was today offering to the public the first of its supply of 100,000 beautifully designed Mother's Day stamps which the nation's post office department has issued "in memory and in honor of the mothers of America."

The local office ordinary requisition for special stamps averages around 10,000, but 100,000 were ordered this time because it was anticipated the demand would be much heavier. That has already been shown.

Ramshakle Frame House Becomes Model Home In Clean-Up Campaign

(International News Service)

DENVER. — A ramshackle old frame house—one of the few wooden buildings in Denver—was the center of interest during a gigantic Clean-up and Paint-up campaign in Denver. The structure was moved from the north part of the city where it had stood vacant for years, to the park in the heart of downtown Denver on which the old courthouse formerly stood.

Sponsors of the cleaning and painting movement then went to work on it. It was completely modernized, painted, papered, repaired and converted into a snug little home. The surroundings were landscaped and flowers and shrubs were set out.

The public was invited to visit the model home and see how a shabby residence could be transformed into a place of beauty and comfort.

After the demonstration is completed and viewed by interested householders, it is planned to give the house to some newly-married couple. An organization of real estate agents has donated two lots on which the house will be placed permanently.

Credit Meeting Interests Many

Members Discuss Questions Pertaining To Credit Problems Here

COLLECTIONS ARE SHOWN INCREASING

Members of the New Castle Credit Exchange manifested deep interest in the discussion of various credit problems at the first of a series of such meetings held Thursday evening in the Elks Club.

Emanuel Shenkan presided and opened the meeting with a talk in which he urged the cooperation of all members of the Exchange in order to make it a more effective organization. He stated that the New Castle Exchange need not take a back seat from any, but felt that the members should take a little more interest in the organization, inasmuch as it was their own.

He gave some interesting statistics in regard to collection percentage, which is showing a nice increase.

Everyone present tok part in the lively round table discussion, which followed. It was unanimously decided to hold another meeting the latter part of May, to be followed by monthly meetings during the latter part of each month.

"Jesus Acclaimed As King"

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Phil. 2:9—"Wherefore also God highly exalted him, and gave unto him the name which is above every name."

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for May 6 is Matt. 21:1-46, especially 1-14, the Golden Text being Phil. 2:9, "Wherefore also God highly exalted him, and gave unto him the name which is above every name.")

REPEATEDLY Jesus had discouraged efforts of his followers to proclaim him king. Now he deliberately sets the stage for a demonstration of his royalty.

He sends two disciples to a nearby village to bring a donkey and her colt, and, seated upon this awkward donkey's colt he heads a procession of Galilean peasants who acclaim him the long expected Messianic King of prophesy amidst the singing of psalms and shouting, "Hosanna to the Son of David: Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest." Over five centuries before this the prophet Zechariah had given such a picture of the Messiah coming royalty mingled with lowly simplicity. The palm strewing, psalm singing pilgrims created a great sensation in the laready overcrowded capital city. It focused attention upon the prophet of Nazareth and his Messianic claims. It charged the atmosphere with a spirit of expectancy: "All the city was stirred, saying, Who is this?"

The Cleansing Of The Temple

Jesus headed straight for the temple and for the second time in his brief ministry he purged it of the unscrupulous racketeers who were commercializing every phase of national religious life and oppressing the worshipers to their own enrichment: "And Jesus entered into the temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the money changers, and the seats of them that sold the doves; and he saith unto them, it is written, My house shall be called a house of prayer: but ye make it a den of robbers." These privileged classes had come to feel that the temple and its services and indeed the people themselves existed for the enrichment of these money barons. No one had dared to break with them. But Jesus knew no money power. He recognized only the power of truth and purity. Most effectively he wielded this power in the cleansing of the temple. It is ours to see to it that the tables are not turned to permit the money-changers to scourge Christ out of his temple.

The Barren Fig Tree

On the morning following his triumphal entry into Jerusalem, as Jesus was returning to the city from Bethany he saw a fig tree in full leaf and came to it expecting to pick some figs to satisfy his hunger. To his disappointment "he found nothing thereon but leaves only," and he cursed it saying, "Let not fruit grow on thee henceforward forever," and immediately it was withered from the roots up This act is as much a parable as it is a miracle. It stands for the divine judgment which was shortly to fall upon the city and nation for its spiritual barrenness and empty show of religion. That judgment he portrayed in a series of parables of the two sons, of the wicked husbandmen and the vineyard and that of the rejected stone. These parables fell from his lips in quick succession, the point of all being, "The kingdom of God shall be taken from you, and given unto a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof." Those fruits were repentance and faith, the choicest fruits we may ever bring to satisfy the hunger of our Saviour or proclaim his kingship in our hearts and lives.

Last Man's Club Defies Superstition From Broken Mirrors To Black Cats

(International News Service)

TERRE HAUTE, Indiana.—Defying bad luck of every kind, type, specie and class 13 members of the Fort Harrison Post No. 40 of the American Legion here met on Friday, the 13th and organized a "Last Man's Club" which they hope in time will become as famous as that of a group of Civil War veterans in Minnesota years ago.

By-laws were adopted provided that regular meetings of the organization will be held only on Friday, the 13th.

A definite program for the special meetings which are to follow only the funeral of a member, also was adopted. The chair of the departed member is to be draped in black, his goblet is to be broken, his letter read and his picture displayed.

The club members are to follow their program of defying the powers of evil fortune at every regular meeting. Each member will bring a small mirror to these meetings and break the mirror there. There will be 13 salt cellars on the table and salt will be spilled beside the plates by the members.

A tiny black cat will rest beside the plate of each member. Every member will walk under a ladder to enter the banquet room. Members will light cigarets, three from one match.

New Castle-Erie Academy Ready For Game

SPORTS FESTIVAL WILL DRAW BIG CROWD TO TAGGART FIELD

Over One Thousand Young Boys And Girls Will Take Part In Event Tonight

Starting Time Of Grand Parade Is 7:30 o'Clock; Football Teams Await Gong

An athletic panorama unequalled heretofore in the history of New Castle is about to be unfolded to thousands of New Castle citizens tonight at magnificent Taggart stadium. The gigantic Sports' Festival arranged by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner will be presented with over 1,000 young girls and boys taking part.

In conjunction with the stupendous display of young American manhood and womanhood will be the New Castle High and Erie Academy High spring football game. The field will be illuminated by floodlights.

It's the first festival of it's kind ever presented in Pa Newc's lovely city, and with a break from the weatherman, the stadium will be packed to capacity. The starting time will be 7:30 o'clock.

Get In Seats Early

The fans are asked to get into their seats early tonight. Exactly at 7:30 o'clock there will be a blare of trumpets that announce the Sports Festival under way. From out of the runway at the end of the concrete stands will march countless hundreds of color-bedecked young girls and boys who will deploy over the field in what has been termed a grand parade. Four bands will help liven the occasion and keep the marchers in step. This opening scene will be one of the most gorgeous in the history of the city, as far as out-of-door pagentry is concerned.

Credit Due Leaders

From the first blare of the trumpet until the final whistle of the football game there will be something doing every minute. The combined efforts of Miss Sal McGoun of Senior high; Dan Carroll of George Washington Junior high, and Emmett Gillespie of Ben Franklin Junior high has made the Sports Festival possible. Much credit can be given to these young school teachers who have given their time to make the event one of the most outstanding ever presented.

So much for the Festival, now for a little somthing about this football game. Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh has worked like a Trojan to get the "Red Hurricane" ready for the spring game with Erie Academy. It was almost an impossible task that confronted Bridenbaugh with an entirely new backfield to pick out. But, Bridenbaugh has come through again and when you see that quartet of backs tonight carrying the ball, you will readily agree that the "Old Fox" has scored.

New Backfield

Raskowski, Fleming, Mumford and Copple will be the starting backfield and not one of this quartet saw any service last year in the New Castle backfield. They have the punch and power and should click nicely.

The New Castle line hardly needs any introduction with the Shellogg brothers, Fred and Alec, holding forth at the tackles, and Joe Howley at the center post. The guards, Palkovich or Crisci, are not exactly newcomers, having seen a lot of service last year; Cardella, the other guard, is a new man this year. The ends will be taken care of by Harry Tuscano and Joe Wisosky, the latter having waged a successful fight for a starting berth.

Erie Team Strong

Erie Academy will bring a team here that averages between 158 and 160. The backfield will be experienced with R. Wolfe and Wiley, two veterans carrying the ball. The line is big and powerful. Coach Drake expects to give New Castle high a real tussle. The fans are eager for the fray. Erie Academy held the city championship last year and are strong contenders again this year.

Lineups For Tonight

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh of New Castle high school today announced the probable starting lineup for tonight's game.

If the weather is warm New Castle will be attired in the lightweight red jerseys with the smaller numbers on the back, and if the weather is cool the players will wear the red woolen jerseys with the larger numerals.

Smoker Plans By Cosmo Club Are Developed

W. E. Benswanger, President Of Pittsburgh Pirates, And Hans Wagner To Attend Smoker

Plans for the "Pittsburgh Pirates" night at the Cosmo club rooms on North Mercer street Tuesday, May 8, are being developed with word being received from W. E. Benswanger, president of the Pirates, assuring the committee in charge of the smoker that he will bring Honus "Hans" Wagner, famous old time baseball player in this district for the past 25 years.

A similar trip to be one planned by the Cosmo club is being made the night before by the Pittsburgh Pirate party to Wheeling, W. Va., and for that reason Fr. Benswanger was not quite sure of the party that will make the trip to New Castle.

The fundamental purpose of the ball player is being able to play the game at his best, and not making jumps to surrounding towns. The committee has been informed not to expect too many of the Pirates to accompany their president. The long trips tire the players for the games the next day.

Invitations to guests will be mailed immediately and together with the members of the Cosmo club there will no doubt be a wonderful attendance at the smoker. It is expected that about 200 will participate.

School Stars Are Ready For Annual Carnival At Pitt

Sharon High Will Again Go After Team Honors At Pitt Stadium Saturday

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 4.—Scholastic satellites of the cinder path from the tri-state district dug their spikes firmly into the sod as they drove through the final practice drills today preparatory to Saturday's 27th annual interscholastic track and field meet.

The local tourney, held annually under the auspices of Pitt athletic officials, never fails to attract a rich and diligent competitive field.

Fifty-five schools here and from points near and distant in West Virginia and Ohio will send outstanding athletes to the meet.

Hope For Records.

Preliminary trial sprints and finals in the weight events are delegated to the morning hours.

The "century" sprint, now open, as was true last spring, should again provide the thrills and spills of the current tournament.

The high jump division, too, is expected to produce some keen competition. Lewis, Rankin and Bennett of Bridgeville, co-winners of last season's title with a leap of 6 feet 1 inch, from recent performances threaten to eclipse the existing record of six feet, three inches.

Other champions who are to return to defend their laurels are Criste of Cresson in the pole vault, Jim Rogers of Linsley Institute, Wheeling, in the high hurdles, Zelina of East Huntingdon township in the javelin throw and Bayer of Sharon in the 880-yard run.

Eyes, of course, will be trained on all entries arrayed in the spangles of Sharon Hi in consideration of team honors.

Louisville Is Excited Today, As Derby Nears

Three-Horse Race Again This Year Says Railbirds At Famous Churchill Downs

CAVALCADE WILL BE FAVORITE

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 4.—If one is to credit what the eye sees, the ear hears and the mind rejects, we are having drama down here in the heart of old Kentucky on this, the morning before the sixtieth running of the great Kentucky Derby, and 60,000 visitors are having it with us. One always has drama the morning before the derby, much as the average ten-year-old has measles and dirty finger nails. The next step is delirium tremens but this morning it's only drama.

Anyhow, this affair is certainly amazing, stupendous and, in fact, pretty good and, besides, the estimate about the 60,000 visitors must be on the level because we all seemed to have the same waiter this morning. Also the same information. This, they'll tell you, is just another three-horse race.

Four Good Horses

Who the three horses may be is something that will confound, astound and disrupt the average train of thought, but taking "mean" on the situation, I'd be inclined to say that at least four of those three horses are Bazaar, Cavalcade, Peace Chance and Mata Hari. A lot of people from California seem to have sent in the second mortgage on Riskulus and, here and there, you do detect a strange and distressed individual, muttering something dark and obscure about discovery. But if one of those first four don't win, you can write it off to chance.

Chance, I might mention, is something that never happens at a race track. A bet there is always like a successful operation. Nothing really goes wrong, only the patient is unreasonable and does not live.

Bazaar Favored

As a matter of fact, we haven't had a four-horse race here in some years. Usually, there is some horse that doesn't turn out to be worth the trouble to shoot him, but people bet on him and make him the favorite and then spend the next 24 hours trying to explain just why it is that Milton Work has the wrong idea about bridge. It was pretty much that way for the last two years when Col. E. R. Bradley won with Burgoo King and Broker's Tip, neither of which was supposed to have any future except, maybe to the local iceman.

But both won and now Mr. Bradley tells you that Bazaar, the filly, is the horse to beat and it mightn't be a second rate idea to believe him.

Hillsville has taken out a franchise in the Lawrence county baseball league. This made the sixth club in the circuit which will formally open May 9. Hundreds of coaches in the tri-state district have signified their intentions of attending the clinic, which will be an all-day affair.

Louisville Bemoans Scarcity Of Mint

Kentucky Derby Fans Like Mint Juleps, And Mint Seems To Have Disappeared

Large Crowds Congregate In Hotels And Sip Mintless Juleps

By QUENTIN REYNOLDS
International News Service Special Correspondent

LOUISVILLE, Ky., The good citizens of Louisville, Kentucky, are walking about the streets with lowered heads and saddened faces. They look as though they had, individually and collectively, been hit on the head with dull blunt instruments. During the day the sun is shining and the scent of the blue grass is as sweet as ever. At night that far-famed Kentucky moon hangs bewitchingly just out of your reach and its full of the same old magic but even this cannot lift the pall of gloom which has descended upon this stricken city.

The reason for the gloom? Louisville has run out of mint. There are some cities which can take its mint or leave it alone—but not Louisville. Louisville is proud of its derby; of its horses; of the pulchritude of its women; of the dignity of its colonels—but above all Louisville is proud of its mint juleps. Now a mint julep without mint is like a colonel with a goatee. It just won't do.

Mint Is Scarce.

The mint was late coming up this year. Still the keepers of the Louisville hostelries thought that they had a large enough supply on hand to take care of the julep-minded derby visitors. But the early arrivers, though not numerous, were thirsty and all day yesterday they congregated in the hotel. Ploughing a joyous but determined path thru the succulent green leaves without which a julep is only another drink.

This is the first time in fourteen years that drinking has been openly allowed in Louisville and the natives wanted to make a big thing of it. During the past fourteen derbies they had sighed regretfully and said, "wait until repeal comes and the mint julep comes back. Then we'll show you real derbies." Now the mint julep has been reborn but alas its life was a short one. They even ran out of mint at Churchill Downs yesterday and the old darkies who have served the club house dining room there for years had tears in their eyes as they confessed shamefully, "Boss, we're all out of mint. How you all like a whiskey sour instead?"

It was suggested to Colonel Matt Winn, the head man of this and all Kentucky derbies that he might import some mint from the Chicago or New York markets but the colonel's southern blood practically boiled over at the insult.

"We have men searching for mint in Tennessee, suh," he said icily, "we'll have southern mint or none at all."

Western Teams Will Dominate

Western Clubs In Both National And American League Appear As Strongest

COCHRANE LIKES DETROIT TIGERS

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 4—Take it from Mickey Cochrane, the $100,000 manager catcher of the Detroit Tigers, the American League race is a wide open affair this year. Moreover, in Mickey's book the Western teams are no longer wearing round heels for the benfit of the Eastern outfits.

"I think my own team has as good a chance as any of them," said Mickey today. "I've got the best pitching in the League, a fast infield, a good outfield and I'm not the worst catcher in the world. We're young and we're hustling.

Indians Weak

"The Browns looked better than anybody we've met yet. The Indians have some sweet throwers but their infield could be better and the White Sox, although weak in the box can be sheer poison to anybody for they've got power and lots of it.

"I think the Yanks and Senators are going to need pitching when the sun gets real hot. They certainly aren't going to get fat on the Western teams like they used to."

If Mickey has the right dope—and he usually has—it may well be that the West will hold the balance of power in both Leagues. This doesn't necessarily mean that a Western team must win in either League but it does mean that the majority of the good teams are in the West.

Eastern Teams Win

However, it didn't appear so in the first meeting of the East and West in the National yesterday. The Giants, Braves and Dodgers all won and only a homer by Medwick stood between the Cards and a defeat by the Phils.

The Giants showered Larry French of the Pirates early in the proceedings and handled Smith and Hoyt without gloves. Jackson weighed in with a homer and a triple with the bases all sold out and with Herman Bell working smotthly, they had a little trouble copping, 5 to 3.

The Cubs are still finding the lefties sour medicine. Another of the tribe, Dutch Brandt of the Braves, was as pleasant as a dose of arsenic and just as easy for the Cubs to take and the boys from the hub roped in 6 to 0.

Dodgers Top Reds

The Dodgers and Reds surprised everybody—themselves most of all—by going seven scoreless heats. Then both sides broke to score all their runs in the eighth but when the firing was over Benge had a 5-hit game to his credit, the Dodgers a 3 to 2 victory to break their losing streak.

The Phils outslugged the Cards but the latter managed to stagger in 8 to 7.

Crocetti And Storte Win

Crocetti Beats Dukes; Storte Knocks Out Maloney At DuBois

JOE RUBINO DROPS CLOSE DECISION

Sammy Crocetti, featherweight, and Louie Storte, flyweight, won and Joe Rubino, junior welterweight, lost a close decision in amateur battles at DuBois last night.

Crocetti's win was his second victory over Jesse Dukes of Clearfield. They went five rounds and reports say Crocetti's "work" was very impressive.

In fact, there were fans there, according to the reports, who believe Crocetti is classy enough to fight professions and he may seek battles with Ross Fields and Mose Butch.

Louie Storte, the Edenburg dynamic puncher, spotted Jimmie Mahoney of the Tyler C. C. C. camp a trio of pounds and in the second round nailed him with a left hook that put Mahoney in slumberland.

Joe Rubino fought Billy Flanigan of Clearfield five rounds. It was a good battle all the way. The fight was close and vicious all the way and they may be rematched in the near future.

DUNDEE WINNER

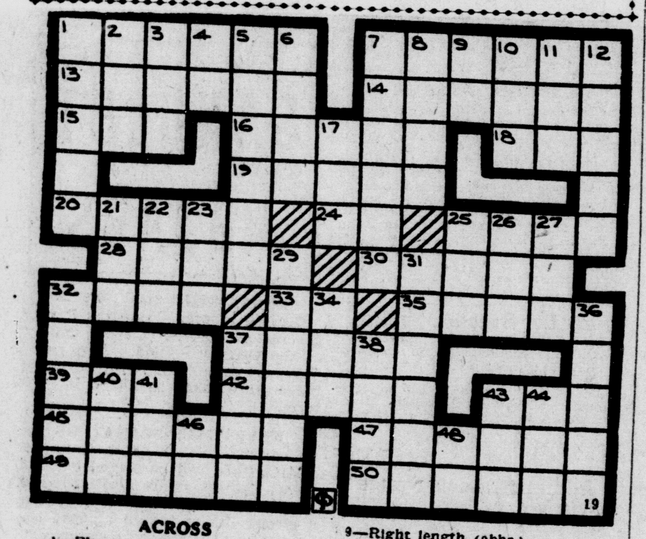

(International News Service)

PATERSON, N. J., May 4.—Vince Dundee was still the middle weight champ today following a close victory over 20-year-old Al Diamond, Paterson fighter, in a 15-round match before a capacity crowd of 8,000 at the Paterson Armory last night.

COLONIALS-RYANTOWN

The Ryantown team will play the Colonial A. C. team tonight at the Ryantown Field on Sampson street at 6 o'clock. Both teams are entered in the Independent baseball league.

Loughran-Neusel Battle Tonight

Tommy Loughran On 'Spot' Again Tonight In New York Fight Arena

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 4.—So. they've got Tommy Loughran on the "spot" again!

Queer how they always harp on what is going to be done to Loughran every time he puts his hands up in defense of a reputation that must always remain one of the finest in boxing.

Tonight, in Madison Square Garden, Tommy is again on the aforesaid "spot," and the sharpers are running all over each other's hamstrings trying to get aboard Walter Neusel, the German who has done so nicely hereabouts since coming from Europe.

Not a bad fighter, men, not bad at all, but I don't think he rates with Tommy as a deft demonstrator of the manly art of self defense. Unhesitatingly, I'll say that he won't whip one side of Loughran. One man who knows and who saw Tommy fight Carnera, in Miami, said today:

"If Tommy boxes ten rounds against Neusel like he did Carnera, it won't be close. Tommy's first ten rounds with Carnera were classics, every one of them."

Harry M. Stevens Taken By Death

Famous "Hot Dog" King Of Ball Parks Will Be Taken To Niles, O., For Burial

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 4.—The body of Harry M. Stevens, millionaire concessionaire, known to thousands of sports fans as the "hot dog king", will be shipped to Niles, O., for burial, it was announced today.

Stevens, 78, died at his hotel here yesterday after a lingering illness.

One day in Pittsburgh he conceived the idea of selling refreshments to fans at sport events. The idea eventually brought him to New York where he took over the catering concession at the Polo grounds.

He subsequently widened his activities to include other ball parks throughout the country and to race tracks in the east.

MANAGERS TO MEET

RADIATORS-SCARAZZOS

Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Scarazzos will go to the Radiator Field for a softball practice game with the 1933 champions. Manager Louis Pascarella will pitch Tom Maiella against the Rads while Manager Reed will probably use Pezzone or Mauri. The Lockley brothers will play with the Rads this year giving them a strong lineup. The Radiators will use as the infield Mazzeri at third, El Lockley at short, Sumners at second, Lutz at first and Sid Lockley at roving short. Green, Stone and Hilton will also be used in the Rad infield at various times. The outfield will have Ambrosia, Nickie Ross, C. Reed and Summerville. Peachy Fornataro will do the catching.

RAISIN SANDWICH

Mix equal quantities each of seeded raisins and chopped nuts. Mix with whipped cream and spread between thin slices of bread.

Carnera-Baer Sign Articles

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 4—Final contracts for the world's heavyweight championship bout June 14 were signed Thursday by Champion Primo Carnera and Max Baer.

Lured by the promise of signing before a movie camera, Baer finally showed up at the Garden with his manager Ancil Hoffman and put his signature on the dotted line. He failed to put in an appearance Wednesday when Carnera signed and the champion had to go thru the motions again for the News reels.

Stock Market Is Steadier Today

Market Displays Considerable Firmness In Light Trading; Pressure Gone

UTILITY STOCKS MEET OFFERINGS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 4.—The stock market displayed considerable firmness in light trading today as pressure on the rails and motors appeared to have dried up.

The payment of a 25 cent extra dividend Chrysler brought some short covering and demand for the issue and also firmed up the rest of the motor group including General Motors, Auburn and Hudson.

Expectations of a favorable car loadings report also heartened traders in the railroad shares where New York Central, Atchison and Southern railway pointed higher.

The utility stocks, though, continued to meet with offerings and consolidated gas slipped to a new low for the year, American Telephone was again unable to stage any sort of convincing rally.

Spiegel May Stern Co. stock was again a feature this time on the upside as it jumped more than 2 points in quick trading. Other merchandising and mail order shares, though, were apathetic.

The commodity markets also were considerably firmer. Cotton opened 25 cents a bale higher and then extended this to 50 cents, while silver, corn and wheat were steady.

Specialties and chemicals were firmer today and scored fractional gains. Aviations were strong on the award of 15 air mail contracts to the private firms.

Joint Meeting Held To Hear Railroad Man

Rotary, Kiwanis And Chamber Of Commerce Enjoyed Dinner Meeting Thursday

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4.—One-hundred and fifty members of the Rotary, Kiwanis and Chamber of Commerce and guests enjoyed a dinner meeting last night in the First Presbyterian church. The dinner was served by the ladies of the church.

The principal speaker of the evening was R. P. Forsburg, Chief Engineer of the P. & L. E. railroad. Mr. Forsburg proved to be a gifted speaker and delivered an interesting message. A large delegation of officials from the P. & L. E. and the B. & O. railroads were present on the occasion.

In a clever and enlightening manner the speaker showed how the foundation principles of railroad building applied to the development of man. Mr. Forsburg illustrated four valuable points that applied to both. Good physical condition was necessary. Character was an essential quality, for without efficiency and character of the men who operate the railroad, it cannot be a success no matter how good the road bed is. Then he dwelled on the qualities of service and courtesy to the public at all times. The person bearing these four qualities is rich in life, otherwise it is unsatisfactory, the speaker declared.

A short music program was enjoyed preceding the address. This was in charge of the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs.

Next week the Rotary club will participate in a district meeting to be held at New Castle.
